Taxes Hurting 'Aged'

Little Holiday Cheer Among Those With Fixed Incomes

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The joyous holiday season is upon us. There is merriment and good will towards man everywhere.

Well perhaps not everywhere!

Some folks are thinking about the bygone days when they, too, had money in their pockets and lots of joy in their hearts. They had their dreams of the day when they would settle down and enjoy life in their very own bought-and-paid for homes.

And then there are those who, for reasons of health or family loss, have sat down with pencil and paper and figured out all the things they can do to keep their family in daily bread.

But at this time of year their dreams are shattered, their pencils are worn to the nub trying to figure out another area that might be pared to provide things more necessary to their survival.

For Santa Claus isn't the only person that arrives at this time of the year — the mailman bearing those grim reminders that property taxes are due also makes his unwelcome presence known.

Property taxes hurt everyone, but the hurt felt by most homeowners is nothing as compared to the agony suffered by the aged, the sick and those on fixed incomes whose budgets are already strained to the point of falling apart.

Most feel they are being used. They say politicians don't really help them because they provide politicians with a vehicle for getting re-elected by promising something will be done soon to help them.

"Soon" never comes for them.

And it may come too late for many others who are already preparing to pack up because of the latest tax bite.

Nick Gabriellini is a good example of today's senior citizen who has worked all his life to buy a home for his family, paid his taxes, and defended the nation against its enemies.

The thanks he received this year from the government may drive him out of his small three-room frame home at 122 Los Olivos, a home that once rocked with laughter during those holidays when his daughter, wife and friends dropped in for some good cheer.

Nick is retiring now at age 66 after spending 47 years as a welder with the Simmons Company.

He looks back over his life and remembers the tidy house with the tie bar for horses still in front "cost me $1800 back in 1925 — nothing down."

"I bought the place when I got married. Paid $25 a month and no taxes," Nick reminisces.

His daughter is grown up, married and the mother of five children.

But Nick still pays for schools.

Does he mind having the biggest chunk of his tax money

Another Freeway 380 Episode

Crestmoor Canyon a Nuisance, Police Problem—Hamilton

By BOB PETERSON

Like a continuing television series, another episode on the extension of 380, the pro and cons, was aired again Monday.

A minor script change was made on the setting; Pacifica's Oddstad School.

Characterization needed little altering. The villian (or hero, depending on your point of view) was again the California Division of Highways.

Playing a lead role was Jim Rae, the division's design engineer. He retained the stereotype of the man who was simply doing his job. That job is, he said, to do the bidding of the public. He was there to listen.

Offering the elements of confrontation were Pacifica's Councilmen Stan Farber and Harland Minshew, and San Bruno Mayor Maurice Hamilton, favoring the freeway. In opposition were Mrs. Ellie Lareen of San Bruno, representing the Sierra Club, and Clark Natwick, of Keep Pacifica Beautiful.

Farber said the position of opponents not to build at all is no alternative to the need for a cross-lateral freeway.

Minshew took the position that it was an elected official's duty to represent the 10,000 commuters that make up Pacifica's 35,000 population, and Hamilton contended the freeway can be built with adequate safeguards to protect the environment.

Hamilton also upset some of his listeners when he made the observation that to him Crestmoor Canyon is a nuisance. He called it a police problem, a problem for the fire department (grass fires) and "it's full of poison oak, that we've been unable to eradicate."

Mrs. Larsen pleaded for Pacificans to realize that the city's natural beauty will be defaced with the freeway."

Natwick read from a prepared statement, and blasted the Pacifica council for not allowing a public hearing, as was twice requested by his group.

The crowd of about 100 persons heard Hugh Toloui, president of the Park Pacifica Improvement Association, state "This is a fact-finding meeting. It is not a public hearing." Then he introduced the speakers.

Rae made a presentation, including a look at some slides showing the traffic on Sharp Park Road, a suggested alternate (if improved) to the freeway.

He revealed maps, and what he considered "traffic generators," for which he based the need for the freeway. These included Skyline College, Tanforan Shopping Center in San Bruno, numerous apartment complexes in San Bruno — but nothing from Pacifica.

The Cabrillo Freeway (present Highway 1) was not

Council Lauds D.C. Fire Hero

The Daly City City Council has unanimously passed a resolution commending Kenneth Danridge for his heroic action in rescuing two persons from a blazing building, on Nov. 10.

In their resolution the council praised the 16-year-old Danridge for dashing "into the blazing structure in ordered to save the lives of . . . two people in the home. . . ."

Two others perished in the fire at 330 Irvington Street, Daly City.

Attempts by the youth to rescue the two victims was thwarted by heat, smoke and flames.

"Without any regard for his own safety or his own life," Danridge fought his way through the flames to the two trapped persons, the resolution read.

Mayor Bernard J. Lycett said such action "truly exemplifies the highest measure of love for one's fellow man."

The Mission Merchants Association, with the support of several local groups, have started a scholarship fund for Danridge and an assistance fund for the surviving members of the family whose home was devastated in the blaze.

Information on contributing to either fund can be had by calling Mrs. Elna Greenwood at the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce offices on Mission Street.

Lewkowitz Resigns As D.C. Treasurer

Joseph Lewkowitz has resigned his post as City Treasurer of Daly City, effective December 31.

The treasurer gave "increasing business commitments" as his reason for leaving the job he has held for 12 years.

Only last April, Lewkowitz retired from the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees, after serving 18 years.

Lewkowitz owns a service station at San Jose and Plymouth Avenues in Daly City.

He suffered a heart attack some 10 months ago, and has been curtailing many of his civic activities since that time.

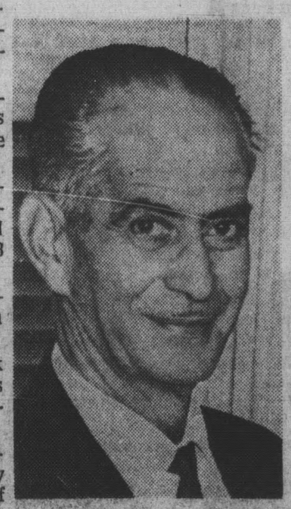
He was elected to the treasurer's job three times by Daly City voters. His current term of office expires in April of 1972.

Acting Mayor Frank Pacelli praised Lewkowitz, calling him "an excellent servant of the city and its people.

"His resignation is received with deepest regrets," Pacelli said.

Lewkowitz will be 63 next year, and will be elibible to receive a partial city retirement pay.

His resignation came as a surprise to many city hall observers. Previously, Lewkowitz had indicated he would seek re-election. The city has not named a successor, but is expected to within the next 30 days.



Joe Lewkowitz

Lewkowitz was born in Sonora, Mexico and moved to California with his family when he was seven years old. He attended school in San Francisco.

A charter member of the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce, Lewkowitz is also a member of the Salvation Army Service Committee, Red Cross Disaster Committee, Daly City Host Lions Club, past chairman of the United Crusade, and participated in the March of Dimes, Cancer Fund and Heart Fund drives.

He is also listed in "Who's Who in the West."

In his November 20 letter of resignation Lewkowitz wrote:

"I regret that at this time I must notify the city council that due to the expansion of my business, which increasingly requires more of my time, I find it necessary to resign my position as city treasurer.

"On this occasion, and not without a sense of accomplishment, I wish to express my appreciation to those with whom I have worked over the past 12 years.

"Many faces have changed during this period, however it has always been my pleasure to serve with the fine members of your board. I want also to express my sincer appreciation to the people of Daly City for their confidence in placing me in this office for three terms."

'Operation S. Claus' To Help DC Families

Operation Santa Claus started modestly 20 years ago with 46 families receiving a small bit of holiday cheer in the form of toys and food donated and distributed by community volunteers.

This year Peter J. Markovich, co-chariman of the operation, anticipates more than 250 families with some 950 children will be on the confidential list.

The names of recipients of Christmas packages are secured from several sources, including the County Welfare Department, school nurses, and interested citizens. Names and circumstances are carefully checked out.

But no names of individuals receiving the packages are known by other than Markovich and co-chairman Ken Colvin.

Volunteers delivering and making up the packages identify the recipients only by a number—no names.

There are now 13 organizations—civic, fraternal, church-related, schools, U.S. Marines and local fire department personnel, plus scores of just plain citizens, working to make the operation a success.

Markovich has again asked for community support for the project, in the form of financial donations or food contributions.

"We feel that in the hearts of all, the joy of Christmas will be two-fold by sharing with those less fortunate. The happiness your devotion creates will bring you a wealth of peace and contentment," Markovich said.

S.S.F. Youth Drowns in Swim Pool

The drowning death of a 16-year-old South San Francisco youth in a high school swimming pool remains under investigation today. But police said there is no indication of foul play.

The body of a youth identified as Michael Scott Wilkins, of 341 A St., was found at about 7:30 a.m. Monday by a custodian at South San Francisco High School, 400 B Street. The youth was a student at the school.

The custodian discovered the nude body, clothes piled nearby, in the pool, adjacent to the school gym.

According to authorities, the pool is closed over the weekend. It is an outdoor pool. However, there is a protective cyclone fence to keep intruders out.

County Coroner Paul Jensen said the boy's mother had told him that her son had left the house late Sunday night, taking his swimming suit with him, to meet some other boys and go swimming at the school.

Police said identification was made by the contents of a wallet in the clothing.

Preliminary investigation revealed the body had been in the pool since some time Sunday. An autopsy was to be Tuesday, police said.

TOYS FOR TOTS?—Gunnery Sergeant George E. John of the Marine Corps Reserve Barracks in San Bruno shows some of the "toys" received for needy children this Christmas season. North Area Toy Drive Will Begin

"Toys for Tots," the annual Marine Corps effort to provide toys for needy children, will begin December 6 and continued to December 21, announced Lt. Col. H. R. Morris.

In charge are local Marine Reservists, according to Lt. Col. Morris, commanding oficer of the Third Battalion, Twenty-third Marines.

Toys will be turned over to the Christmas Bureau of San Mateo County for distribution.

The project was launched 20 years ago in this county. It originated in 1947 in Los Angeles and extended to over 200 cities in 45 states. Over 5,000,000 toys are collected annually.

This year several businesses are participating in the drive and will act as collection centers.

They are: Kentucky Fried Chicken, 1789 El Camino Real, San Bruno; Tom McAn Shoe Store, Tanforan Shopping Center, San Bruno; McDonald's Hamburgers, 435 El Camino Real, South San Francisco; Straw Hat Pizza Parlor, 2262 Westboro Boulevard, South San Francisco; and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, Navy Facility, corner of El Camino Real and Sneath Lane in San Bruno.

Robbers Hit S.S.F. Store

Two men, one armed with a .22 caliber pistol, held up the owner of a small South San Francisco grocery Monday and fled with $540 cash and 17 cartons of cigarettes.

Police said the Boulevard Market, 1051 Airport Boulevard, was robbed at 3:45 p.m. when store owner Wah Quock Chin, 50, and his wife Siam, 46, were forced at gunpoint to lie on the floor.

According to police one man, described as about age 30, with a dirty blond pony tail hairstyle, entered the store and displayed a gun.

JESD Report: Some Parents Fear Reprisal After Strike

There is fear by some parents in Daly City that their children attending elementary schools may be targets of reprisal by those teachers who struck the district in September and are now reoccupying classrooms.

This observation was made in a report last week to the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees by professional polltaker Alessandro Baccari & Associates of San Francisco.

Baccari's summation resulted from answers to a questionnaire mailed out to some 15,000 residents of the school district in October.

The questionnaire drew heavy response—pro and con—from those who received it.

More than 18 per cent of the recipients took time to answer the list of questions posed by Baccari on behalf of the board.

Many persons said the questions were "loaded" and did not give respondents the latitude to fully answer them in a fair manner.

Baccari disputed this by noting many had taken advantage not only of the "comments" section but his request for additional attachments to the original questionnaire.

"Whether they were for or against the board's action in the matter of the 227 striking teachers, the people answered the questionnaire in record numbers. In this sort of poll we expect from three to five per cent to answer, we got an 18 per cent reply," Baccari said.

The fear of harassment, whether justified or not, called for a united effort by trustees, superintendent Frank Greenwood and "dedicated teachers" to overcome what Baccari called "a serious situation that threatens the very foundation of public trust of the education system and educators."

This disquieting aspect of the strike, according to the report, is voiced primarily by those parents who sent their children through teacher picket lines to school during the strike.

The report points up the fact that weeks after the teachers have returned to their classrooms the community is still split wide open with arguments raging for and against the Board's action in the matter.

Who "lost" the battle — the teachers who struck or the board when superior court spent on schools, even though his family has long since stopped using them?

"I don't mind paying, but when I read about vandals smashing everything — my money — I hate to pay for that."

The husky former welder lives alone now. His wife became ill some years ago and is hospitalized. Each year the cost of her care increases.

But again Nick doesn't mind this because "she is a good wife."

Less than ten years ago Nick's property taxes (1962-63 were $69.82. In 1970-71 it jumped to $384.50.

"They tell us it isn't structure they tax, it's the land. In the end they still take our money," he said.

This year Nick got a small break. His county property tax decreased to $231.00. His net land value is now $1,875 — up from $1,000 only a few years ago.

Because he is a landowner, Nick said he was told he isn't qualified to buy food stamps.

And so Nick who thought life was a bowl of cherries in his youth still thinks it is, but not for everyone.

His taxes, food, clothing, hospital care for his wife, and "spending money," comes out of a monthly $198 social security check and a $168 monthly retirement check.

"I've talked to other guys in the same boat and believe me I've got it made compared to them," Nick said.

He could be right

George H. Phelan lives at 3339 San Jose Avenue with his sister. He's lived there for the past 54 years — since 1917.

Five years ago George, a bachelor, retired as a truck driver after suffering a heart attack. He is now 61, has a bad heart and emphysema.

His sister is also on disability.

George gets an additional check from the Teamsters Union of $55.

The homesite has been rezoned for commercial use since it was purchased.

The area is sprouting with businesses and, once again, George was told it's the and that is subject to taxes, not the modest five-room house.

In 1966-67 taxes were $174.68. The years and rezoning of the property have jumped this year's taxes to $581.88.

"We could sell out I suppose," George says, "but where would we go? Where could we buy another home for what they will pay us for ours? We are too old, too tired, to go into debt for another home."

There are no food stamps for George or his sister.

"We don't want welfare," George said.

There is another "typical" elderly couple living at 275 87th Street, Colma, who think taxes are "too damn much."

Who can blame them for thinking this?

In four years their taxes have been hiked from $496 (1967) to $654.02 (1971) on their 50-foot by 100-foot lot where they have lived for the past 45 years.

This year taxes zoomed because it was rezoned to commercial.

The couple receives $203 monthly from the state. They sold their car "because we can't afford gasoline or tires anymore."

For almost a half-century the couple paid taxes. They are both "feling lousy" and are in their eighties.

"Why should we have to keep paying taxes," they ask.

There are no records to indicate how many people in San Mateo County are in this situation.

New tax relief laws are being introduced and kicked around by State Legislators continually.

The "Relative Responsibility Law" which places the burden for care of the elderly on the shoulders of their offspring will only split families apart, one county welfare worker predicts.

The new laws are tougher on everyone.

One welfare worker summed up her present feelings on the matter:

"The low income seniors are getting a big shaft."

3 Suspects Charged in Burglary

Three suspects in a Sunday afternoon apartment burglary in Belmont were in police custody in Daly City 45 minutes after a police broadcast went out, but nearly half the $2316 worth of loot already had been fenced, according to officers.

One of the suspects, although not admitting anything about the burglary, did tell Belmont police she had a $200 a day heroin habit.

Belmont police were notified by neighbors at about 4:30 p.m. that the Joseph A. Costarella apartment at 301 Old County Road had been entered. One witness got a license number of the suspect vehicle, which led Daly City police directly to a home at 214 McDonald Avenue.

An expensive camera, a stereo set and a camera flash already had been disposed of, but Belmont police said a $1,000 silverware set, hairdryer and numerous smaller items belonging to the victim were found in the car.

The suspects, two of them women, were booked at county jail by Daly City police on suspicion of possession of stolen property. Booking on suspicion of burglary by Belmont is pending.

Arrested were: George Henry Carroll, Jr., 30, of San Francisco, a mechanic; Renee Faye Anoai, 21, 214 McDonald, Daly City, unemployed; and Clorine Luciana Adams, 34, 200 Coronado Avenue, Daly City, a hairdresser and the one who said she had the heroin habit.

Thanksgiving Day Fight Claims Another Life

A second death has been attributed to a Thanksgiving altercation at a Broadmoor bar that resulted in the shooting death of a San Francisco man.

The second death is that of Socorro Gomez, 27, of Daly City, who was dead on arrival at 9:30 p.m. Saturday at Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City.

Authorities said Gomez died of a skull fracture so minute that it could not be detected with X-rays. Police said he apparently received the fracture when he was involved in a fight with William Huddleston Thanksgiving Day at the Hillside Bar, 1094 Hillside Boulevard, Broadmoor.

Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage said Huddleston is now in custody and is being charged with manslaughter in Gomez' death.

Also in custody is Mary Shupe, 50, of 1094 Hillside Boulevard, who was scheduled to be arraigned today for the shooting death of Arthur Chapman, 43, who died of a bullet wound he received Thanksgiving Day.

Chief Savage, still piecing together the full story of the Thanksgiving Day incidents, said the fight between Gomez and Huddleston occurred before the shooting of Chapman.

According to the police chief, Gomez and his cousin, Rigorberto Gomez, 20, were outside the bar where they were having a verbal disagreement with Chapman. Chief Savage said Huddleston, Chapman's half-brother, came out to assist Chapman.

The chief said Huddleston hit Gomez and knocked him down. There apparently was nothing more to that incident.

Then on Friday Gomez was taken to San Francisco General Hospital, complaining of a headache. Authorities said X-rays were taken with negative results and Gomez was released.

On Saturday Gomez complained that the headaches were gettin worse. He was taken to Mary's Help Hospital, and again X-rayed with negative results, and sent home.

Chief Savage said that Gomez apparently became delirious at home then passed out on a bed. He again ws rushed to Mary's Help, where he was pronounced dead on arrival. An autopsy revealed the small fracture.

As to the shooting incident Thanksgiving Day, Chief Savage said Huddleston and Chapman were at the apartment of Miss Shupe, when an argument started.

Chief Savage said she fired a couple of rounds as the two males left the apartment and several rounds later, with one apparently striking Chapman. He was dead on arrival at Mary's Help at 5:26 p.m. Thanksgiving Day.

Judge Melvin Cohn decided to arbitrate or the citizens?

"... the real losers in the recent strike situation were the children," Baccari said.

"Teachers should not go on strike. The 'cry teacher' scene on TV and newspapers was a beautiful acting performance. What a terrible thing to impose on children. The children were involved in something they didn't understand — only told what to do. Shame on the news media participation," said one letter.

Did the Board act properly in firing the striking teachers?

Of the 2,439 parents and non-parents (almost equally divided) 78 percent said "yes," while 22 percent opposed the action.

The Board followed Judge Cohn's recommendation and allowed the teachers to return to work. Was the Board's action proper?

Of the 2176 answering, 51 percent approved and 49 percent felt the Board should have kept the teachers out.

Question No. 4 came in for criticism by many answering the poll. They called it a "loaded" question.

It asked if the Board should have entered into an "illegal" contract "giving the teachers the power to veto board decisions."

As expected, 88 per cent said it would be wrong for such an agreement and 12 per cent said they should have signed.

Was Judge Cohn's decision not to rule on alleged harrasment by striking teachers on the picket lines, even after a court order was issued prohibiting such acts, proper? Persons replying numbered 2,680.

There were 64 per cent who regarded Judge Cohn's decision as improper. However, 36 per cent supported the judge and felt he was justified in overlooking the alleged violations.

Parents commenting unfavorable to the judge felt strong punitive measures should have been taken. Even those without children in the school district criticized the striking teachers' actions.

On the other hand, there was equally strong comments in favor of the judge's handling of the issue.

One parent thought Judge Cohn should "receive a medal for trying to bring peace to the school district." Another wanted to know who thought the teachers were "harrasing" others. "The judge ought to know (whether this was harrasment) not your Board."

discussed extensively. Rae said it is not scheduled for construction yet. "The plans are getting old and are being revised," he said.

The middle-aged taxpayer, represented by Pacifican Dale Marr, wanted the Sierra Club and others "to quit speaking for me as a taxpayer."

Said Marr, "I have to go up and down these roads. I travel 50,000 miles a year. I don't want crumb bums. and yow-yow's singing the blues for me." He said he'd never seen Crestmoor Canyon and doubted if many of the others in the audience had either.

The other side of the coin, speaking for youth, was Ferd Simons. He tried to explain that the youth looked upon the canyon, and other open space, as "the last on God's green earth. They want to preserve it," he said.

Kenneth L. Kitcher, charged with felony manslaughter in a traffic death, was ordered committed to the State Prison Medical Facility at Vacaville Monday by Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley.

Kitcher, 36, of Pacifica, pleaded no-contest last month to the manslaughter charge resulting from the death of Gary Lee Jones, 23, of Redwood City, who was killed last June 13 in a head-on crash on Skyline Boulevard near Sneath Lane in San Bruno.

Judge Hartley ordered that criminal proceedings be temporarily suspended pending the up to 90 days of diagnostic study of Kitcher at the medical facility.

Three County Employe Groups May Lose Raise

County government employes represented by three organizations have apparently lost their chance for pay increases as of January 1.

Salary boosts of approximately 3 per cent were approved by the Civil Service Commission Monday for the bulk of the county's 4,000 classified employes. They are the workers represented by organizations that completed negotiations prior to the commission meeting yesterday.

The county charter requires that the commission recommend pay raises to the Board of Supervisors, which was scheduled to approve a salary and fringe benefit ordinance this afternoon so that the increased benefits will be effective January 1.

Organizations that have settled with the county are the Peninsula Association of Public Empoyes and Local 839 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, which together represent about three-fourths of the work force, and the California Licensed Vocational Nurses' Association.

Those failing to meet the deadline were the Organization of Deputy Sheriffs, the California Nurses' Association, representing registered nurses, and Carpenters' Local 162. Dist. Atty. Keith C. Soren has ruled that salary and benefit increases cannot be paid retroactively, indicating that the employes represented by these groups will get their raises sometime after January 1.

The commission's recommendations applied only to pay increases. Fringe benefits were to be considered by the supervisors this afternoon.

The settlement reached by the Peninsula Association of Public Employes calls for monthly pay increases ranging from $20 to $50, averaging about 3.3 per cent. Executive Secretary Whit Halteman said, however, that fringe benefit improvements will bring the average up to about 5.5 per cent over-all, just within the limitation imposed by the federal pay board. Fringe improvements, he said, include increasing the county-paid life insurance from $4,000 to $5,000; a dental plan under which the county will pay $5 a month to ward the insurance premium; and an amendment to the sick leave plan under which employes will receive, unpon retirement, one month of free health insurance coverage for each day of accumulated sick leave, up to 120 months.

"Trifles make perfection and," as Michelangelo said, "perfection is no trifle."

We can't claim to be perfect, but, we sure try to be where cars and trucks are involved. And the "we" is not just my partner, Bob Toneff, and me. Everyone here takes pride in his work.

Have you ever seen a new car as it rolls off the delivery transport? It's factory-fresh, but far from being ready to put on display. All dealers — regardless of make — have to detail the car. That's routine. And most make a cursory inspection for obvious defects. That's where we part company with them, because we make a thorough check of every new car or truck. It takes us far longer to prepare a car for sale. We think it's time well spent because it saves your time (you don't have to come back after a day or so to get things fixed). Taking care of these details may be trifles, but the added effort we make is part of our TRUE VALUE policy.

We've been able to help our customers with some little additional things, too. Such as driving one gentleman home because the evening was so foggy he was reluctant to take his new car on the road. Or designing and making a ramp so the young son of our customer could get into and out of her new van with his wheelchair.

If you'd like to do business with people who pay attention to trifles, like their work and take pride in it, stop in. We'll discuss it over a cup of coffee.

Sincerely,
Joe Francis

Reject Commercial Exploitation Of Christmas Urges SSF Priest

An unusual note was added to the traditional opening of the Christmas shopping season.

Standing in the middle of Union Square in downtown San Francisco, the Rev. James Purcell of South San Francisco urged shoppers to "reject the commercial exploitation of this holiday season and work to recapture the true spirit of Christmas." Speaking on behalf of the Committee to Save Christmas, Father Purcell, in what he termed "my Christmas sermon," told the crowd: "I'm sure many of you feel like the woman who wrote me and complained:

'Every year when the signs of the big Christmas selling started showing up, I'd always have an "oh, no — not that again" reaction. It seemed so senseless getting into that shopping rat race that took so much time and energy, you really didn't have the time or the ease of mind to really enjoy all the good things that go with Christmas'."

Father Purcell asked the shoppers to spend less money this Christmas on gifts and urged them to spend more time and energy working to bring back the real meaning of Christmas. He encouraged people to use some of their money instead to help the Committee of Responsibility, a group of people dedicated to helping Vietnamese children who have been seriously burned or crippled in the war. "Christmas will not be a time of joy for most Vietnamese children, for while the war may be winding down for Americans, destruction and death continue for the Vietnamese." Father Purcell pointed out that "few people realize that 200,000 Vietnamese civilians have been wounded or killed each year in this war and more than one-half of these casualties are children under the age of 16. More than half of the injuries to civilians are caused by American firepower, firepower which is being reduced on the ground but which continues from the air. More bombs, more strafings will bring more burned and crippled children. Our economy finances this destruction. It is time to support life with our money."

When asked if his committee was boycotting the stores, Father Purcell replied: "No, but we are asking people to re-evaluate how much they spend and what they buy. We are also encouraging people to make their own Christmas gifts."

After delivering his "sermon," Father Purcell and other members of the committee, including some housewives and students, walked among the crowds of shoppers and handed out flyers explaining the goals of the Committee to Save Christmas. Committee members also handed out flyers at Stonestown, Serramonte, Tanforan Park and Hillsdale Shopping Centers.

Anyone interested in supporting the Committee to Save Christmas should send contributions or ideas to the Committee to Save Christmas, P.O. Box 585, Pacifica. All funds received will be turned over to the Committee of Responsibility for the rehabilitation of Vietnamese children crippled or burned in the war.

S. Bruno Rezoning Petition

A 1406-name referendum petition calling for an election on a duplex re-zone was filed last week with San Bruno City Clerk Carl Hultberg.

Hultberg said that if the petition should prove to have the required minimum of 1227 names, then he will present it to the December 13 meeting of the City Council. The Council would then have the choice of repealing the rezoning or of placing it on the April, 1972, city election ballot.

Meanwhile, investor Bob Berryman has been notified that he cannot build the 13 duplexes along Cunningham Way, for which he had obtained the rezoning.

The site involved is part of an abandoned right of way of the old Junipero Serra Boulevard, between Whitman Way and Crystal Springs Road. It was previously zoned R-1, single family, and commercial. Its use as a building site was part of a deal, in which the Consolidated Lands Co. was to be permitted to build on several abandoned roads, in exchange for which the firm gave the city a number of pieces of land, plus the money with

County Names D.C. Girl Yule Queen

GAIL SIMS

A queen to promote beautiful Christmas decorations in San Mateo County has been named for the first time this year. She is Miss Gail Sims of Daly City, whose title is 1971 Christmas Program Decoration Queen for San Mateo County.

Miss Sims is a student at Skyline College, majoring in recreation education and sociology. She has also served as a volunteer counselor at a handicapped children's camping program this summer.

Selection of a Christmas decorations queen is part of a drive by the county to get all public facilities in the county, especially yacht harbors, public buildings and recreation centers, to decorate for the most popular pastime in California, sightseeing.

Gail plans to attend San Francisco State College after Skyline.

Redevelopment Program Is Prased in DC

Since the announcement that Daly City intended to set up a redevelopment agency for the eastern sector of the city, the city council and city manager David Rowe have compared their plight to that of a Thanksgiving turkey inside a heated oven.

Last week the heat was turned up by several opponents of the redevelopment agency idea.

Yesterday, Mayor Bernard J. Lycett, often the center of criticism because of his position as head of the five member council, happily showed a letter from former residents which, he said, "makes our job worthwhile."

The letter was from Walter and Lucille Hastings, former residents in the Knowles Avenue improvement project — a sort of mini-redevelopment and relocation project.

The Hastings' praised the city and expressed their "thanks to all who have made it possible for us to become relocated."

Writing from their new home in Gardnerville, Nevada, the Hastings singled out Anthony (Tony) Zidich for special praise.

Zidich was one of the members of the relocation panel formed to find housing for the 105 displaced persons in the corrider project.

"When the city appointed Mr. Tony Zidich as the rental agent they made a wise choice because on his own (he) has helped us in many ways. What he has done for us he did not have to do and we . . . feel the city council should know what a valuable aide he has been to the city."

They called the relocation program "generous" to those displaced because of the road widening.

And they thanked the mayor and city council for instituting "a program that has a heart in it."

Two Arrested In Stabbing

Two teenaged girls were arrested Monday after allegedly stabbing a patron at a Daly City service station.

The victim, William Boyle, 36, was in good condition after being treated by his family physician for a two inch stab wound in the left side of his stomach.

Police said the two girls walked into the service station at the corner of 87th street and Junipero Serra Avenue about 8 p.m. They asked attendant Edward Bouc, for some change.

The girls insisted the change be in quarters, but Bouc explained all he had was dimes, police said.

Angered, the pair allegedly began cursing the attendant. Boyle stepped in to help the attendant after he had asked the girls to leave, according to police.

Arrested as they attempted to flee the scene on foot were Janis Shuckahosee, of San Francisco and Frances Estosito of El Sobrante.

New Phone Building Set for Pacifica

Groundbreaking was held today on a new 23,377 square-foot telephone company building on Crespi Drive, in Pacifica.

Council members last week approved the building permit, but said the architect had to submit alternate exterior finish proposals to the planners in the interim.

Planners have indicated they are not sure they are satisfied with the finish proposed by the architect.

The building, which phone company officials say will cost $779,000, will mean employment of approximately 40 operators and 16 management people. It is estimated that by 1974 300 persons will be employed at the facility.

A spokesman for the company said, "Where possible, Pacificans will be employed." He also said those Pacificans working at other facilities would get first priority on moving to the new facility.

The new building will contain a Traffic Service Position System (TSPS). It is a new electronic system created by Bell Telephone technicians designed to improve long distance phone service.

As an example, callers using credit cards, or doing person-to-person dialing, will be able to begin their calls before an operator comes on the line.

As the connection is being made, the operator comes in and gets the necessary information from the caller. Another feature is automatic computation of customer charges, said the spokesman.

Rec Center Remodeling Said Costly

Pacifica officials are finding that remodeling of Oddstad Recreation Center even to bring it up to the city's codes, will far exceed $11,000 originally budgeted for piecemeal renovation.

Last week council members reviewed bids, reaching upwards to $30,000, then decided to cancel all bids and prepare new plans and specifications.

Keith Freeman, acting head of the Department of Public Works, told the council members that items necesary to bring the building up to code, with a couple of exceptions, was all that was included in this original bid specifications.

He said the $11,000 figure, which the council budgeted for remodeling purposes, was an estimate made a year ago based on costs of materials, with all labor to be performed by city staff.

Councilmen Stan Farber and Nick Gust said they were of the belief that bids were to be let on an alternate one, two, three basis, indicating a priority as to what necessities could be accomplished with the $11,000. The bids did not contain this breakdown.

"It is difficult to get bids on a remodeling job," said Freeman. "We actually went out and solicited bids for this work."

Bob Southwood, president of Pacifica Players, who use the facility, said his group would be willing to contribute up to $1,000 if part of the remodeling could be done to improve the facility for the players.

Three Men Rob Store

Three men, described to police as being "neat dressers," having mustaches and wearing gloves, held up the Drug King in South San Francisco at gunpoint Saturday, taking an undetermined amount of drugs and money.

Police said one of the suspects entered the store at 1059 El Camino Real about closing. When Manager Roger Slocum, 22, locked the door, the suspect pulled a pistol and told Slocum to let two other men in. All suspects were described as being in their late 20's or early 30's.

Once all three suspects, all brandishing pistols, were inside, the trio ordered pharmacist Ernest Garcia, 52, to give them drugs and Slocum to hand over money. Police said they have not determined exactly what drugs were taken, or how much money.

Man Held In Shootout

A Daly City man was reported in good condition at San Francisco General Hospital Friday after an alleged shootout with an off-duty policeman Thursday night.

Burgess R. Crosby, 27, of 1050 Schwerin Street, was taken to the hospital with bullet wounds of the stomach, back, left knee and left hand.

San Francisco police officer David Brown was shot in the left thigh in the 10:45 p.m. gun battle on Silver Avenue, San Francisco.

Grand Opening Today For D.C. Walgreens

"You won't find a more modern or complete drug store anywhere," emphasized Walgreen manager Robert Markuse, R.Ph., as he prepared to open one of the largest units of the nationwide Walgreen chain in Daly City.

The store, which launches its four-day grand opening festivities today in Westlake Shopping Center, incorporates the latest trends in retail merchandising, said Markuse. "Our store planners use rather sophisticated theories of customer traffic patterns and movement of goods in stocking the store, creating a very pleasant, well-stocked unit.

"The result is better access for customers, more merchandise in the sales area and a feeling of spaciousness within the store."

With 19,189 square feet of sales area, the drug store has more than 50 departments featuring "everything from aspirin to appliances."

Manager Markuse explained: "We included a wide variety of merchandise like kitchenware, health food and cameras to appeal to the shopper who just doesn't have the time to spend half a day going from store to store."

A specialties department features televisions, radios, tape recorders and stereo multiplex units. Also included in the department are still cameras, watches and typewriters.

In other departments can be found tobacco products — cigars, cigarettes, pipes — greeting cards and portable electric appliances. There are sporting goods and automobile accessories, paint and hardware. The usual drug sundries are there in addition to a large vitamin department.

Walgreen's cosmetics department, called the "Beauty Center," carries more than 5000 cosmetics. It is staffed by four beauty consultants to help customers select from among the more than 500 eye-catching makeup items, 600 different shades of lipsticks and 150 shades of nail polish. Said Markuse: "With this type of selection, women often need professional help in making their choice."

Markuse said he considers the prescription department the most important part of the store and an important drawing card for customers. "Judging from the past popularity of our former prescription department, I expect our expanded pharmacy to be very well received."

Another reason, he said, is its completeness of service. "With a stock of nearly 6000 pharmaceuticals, our four pharmacists can fill virtually every prescription. Then there's the extras."

Extras include free amber-colored vials for light sensitive drugs, poison antidote charts, diabetic identity cards and child-proof safety presception vials.

The Walgreen Company is often called the "Number One Pharmacist to the Nation." It is currently filling prescriptions at a rate of about 25 million a year. Company officials say the chain's pharmacists have filled about 290 million prescriptions since it was founded in Chicago in 1901.

Jeff Elementary Censured by CTA

The California Teachers Association said last week it has imposed statewide sanctions against the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City.

Among charges made against the Jefferson school board and administration by the CTA:

Failure to come to grips with persistent personnel problems, some of them dating back to 1966.

Failure to negotiate in good faith with teachers as provided by the state's Winton Act, and arbitrarily breaking off negotiations.

Attempting to settle differences with teachers through reprisal rather than a rational approach to the differences.

L. Gordon Bittle, president of the 175,000-member CTA, in quoting from the panel's report, declared:

"We feel it is the duty of CTA to use every means at its disposal to assure that Daly City citizens are fully aware of the intolerable conditions within their school district, so they have the opportunity to correct the situation. Sanctions are one more means of focusing public attention on this case."

Bittle added that it is also CTA's responsibility to notify teachers not to accept employment in the Jefferson district until conditions that prompted the sanctions are improved.

The 18 member CTA Board of Directors approved the sanctions upon the recommendation of the CTA Commission on Professional Negotiations, which accepted the panel's report.

The investigation was requested last Sept. 17 by the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association (JCTA), which represents 86 per cent of the district's certificated staff of 450.

"A major point in the panel's report was that the teachers, in good faith, and to settle a two-day strike in September, 1970, had signed a written master agreement, including binding arbitration, with the board. Almost immediately after the agreement was signed there began a period of harmonious employer-employee relationships in the district," Bittle said.

"This, however, was short-lived. For example, in spite of the binding arbitration clause the board ignored recommendations from the American Arbitration Association for the peaceful settlement of two grievances. The board also challenged the legality of the agreement in court. But rather than living up to it during the trial period, the board said it would ignore the pact it had made with the teachers, and not enter into another being sought by them."

In a renewal of a prior decision, the agreement was recently declared illegal by San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Melvin Cohn. Daly City teachers have announced they will appeal the decision.

The panel also charged that while the recent Daly City teachers' strike was in progress, the board refused to negotiate, and thus "acted in an immature, irresponsible manner which could hardly be expected to contribute to a constructive solution."

The panel also charged that the district repeatedly failed to produce its appointees to a fact-finding committee. Thus, "the district made clear that its intent was to break off negotiations, rather than to seek an equitable, impartial settlement of the matter."

Gregorio Will Try Again On Beach Acquisition Bill

One final effort has been mounted to get passage of a State Senate bill which would provide money to buy 53 acres at north Montara Beach for a state park.

sage will come by today.

sage will come by Wednesday.

The bill is SB 1099 by Senator Arlen F. Gregorio (D-San Mateo) and was thought dead after failing to get a required majority vote in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee last Wednesday. The 10-5 affirmative vote was one short of the need majority of 11 of the 21-member committee.

Chairman Willie Brown (D-San Francisco) did not vote against the bill, as was reported from Sacramento last week, but there still was enough opposition.

Gregorio today was attempting to round up 11 Ways and Means member signatures on a petition to reconsider the bill. If successful, it could come up again at the committee's regular meeting this Wednesday.

The area is on the old McNee Ranch property, nestled between the Devil's Slide south entrance and Frank Torres restaurant in Montara.

The Save Our Shoreline (SOS) conservation group of the mid-Coastside got its own campaign going over the long weekend with a newsletter urging residents to write or wire "key" legislators on the committee who had voted against SB 1099.

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan (D-South San Francisco) had voted for it. Assemblyman John Miller (D-Alameda) who is known to favor the bill, was absent last Wednesday. It is this support Gregorio was attempting to gather up.

Many local residents and the landowner have opposed the Gregorio measure, which would provide up to $630,000 to finance purchase of the beach and overlooking bluffs.

The owner, Deane and Deane, Inc., has plans for two holes of a nine-hole golf course on the property, between the beach and Cabrillo Highway, and claims that if the land is taken for a park it would wipe out the golf course idea.

The Association for Better Coastside Development has opposed the acquisition because the state plan calls for a paved 1000-car parking lot eventually to be built in the flat land. They say they see this as a traffic and pollution hazard.

SOS, opposed to any major population growth, has seen Deane and Deane, the Coastside's largest landholder, as the vehicle for this growth and has attempted to stop Deane development plans everywhere on the mid-Coastside from Montara to Half Moon Bay.

Mary's Help Computer

With an ultimate goal of better patient care, the 294-bed Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City will upgrade its computer system and patient accounting system in the near future.

The hospital, one of 21 operated by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent DePaul, based in St. Louis, Mo., will install a Honeywell Model 105 computer in the next few months as part of a computer communications network serving the religious order's general hospitals in 10 states in the western two-thirds of the United States.

Each of the hospitals, including the one in Daly City, will be linked over standard communications lines to a central computer center in St. Louis where data will be processed daily and returned to Daly City the next morning.

A Beach Sand Debate

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Daly City city manager David Rowe on Friday discounted stories the city's scavenger company was illegally selling beach sand mined near its Mussel Rock dump site.

Rowe said the stories were attempts to make a mountain out of a sand hill.

A San Francisco newspaper reported a Peninsula conservationists' group "acting on an anonymous tip" brought the mining operation to a halt after notifying the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Al Sereni, president of the Daly City Scavenger Company, which owns most of the ocean front near Mussel Rock, said he was unaware the sand he sold to local contractors was illegal.

When it was brought to his attention by officials of the Corps of Engineers, Sereni halted the operation rather than go through the red tape necessary to obtain federal and state permits, he said.

Neither the city nor Sereni were aware the sand being taken from the area was the subject of controversy, Rowe said.

Daly City and the scavengers have an agreement on operation of the ocean front dump site.

City attorney Albert Polonsky likewise said he was not aware any laws were being broken on removal of sand from the "high tide" mark claimed by the state as public property until his office was contacted on the matter.

The so-called "mining operation" began some six years ago when the city received a cease and desist order from the State Water Quality Control Board regarding the dump site.

The removal of beach sand was necessary to lay the boulder foundation for a sea wall that was constructed at a cost to Sereni's company of some $200,000 along a 1,900 foot stretch of beach from Mussel Rock north.

Wave action in the area had uncovered an abandoned dump site.

The WQCB accused Sereni of letting Daly City's refuse float out to sea and pollute beaches as far north as San Francisco.

Sereni went to work and relocated hundreds of cubic yards of refuse to another canyon away from the ocean front. The area was refilled and replanted.

The WQCB was still not satisfied and the city, working with Sereni, constructed the huge sea wall in phases.

"This is where Sereni's alleged 'sand stockpile' came from," according to Rowe. "It was the dirt removed from the beach when a trench was dug to lay the foundation for the sea wall."

In all, Sereni said his exporting of sand from the beach covered less than five months, totaling 2500 cubic yards of sand. The sand was sold for 40 cents a cubic yard and the $1,200 put into the company.

"It was an intermittent operation. The material was used as backfill by two or three local contractors," Rowe said.

An Annual Potluck Dinner

Tonight is the night for the annual potluck dinner and Christmas party sponsored by the Holy Angels Women's Guild.

Mrs. Joseph Gumina and Mrs. Don Regan are in charge of the festivities which will get underway at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall on San Pedro Road.

To continue a busy preholiday week, members will be presenting a Chrstmas Boutique beginning Saturday, following the 5:30 p.m. mass, and continuing on Sunday from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Mrs. Joseph Zanobini is the boutique chairman and her co-chairman is Mrs. John McCloskey.

Browsers on Sunday morning may breakfast on doughnuts and coffee or hot chocolate as they shop for gift items or holiday goodies.

According to Mrs. George Sigigie, publicity chairman for the guild, the sale is held annually to raise money to make available, to one boy and one girl in the graduating class, a scholarship to the parochial high school of their choice.

IT WILL BE FOR FUN and relaxation instead of fund raising when the Mary's Help Hospital Guild members convene on Friday evening.

The occassion, according to Mrs. Mario Mangini, publicity chairman, is the annual Chrismas Cocktail Party to be held in the Forest Hill Club House in San Francisco.

Mrs. Frank Lawson and Mrs. Frank Falconi are in charge of the arrangements for the members and their guests only affair.

HELPING TO ENLIVEN the holiday season for the veterans of World War II hospitalized in the Palo Alto Veterans Administration Hospital were the members of the Federated Women's Club of Pacifica.

Representatives of the club held a bingo and dessert party at the hospital and were almost overwhelmed by the lonliness and the gratitude of the men in ward 137.

Mrs. Grace Cloud was the afternoon's hostess and she was assisted by club president, Mrs. Virginia Meyers, and members Mrs. Majorie Whitney, Mrs. Alice McPeak and Mrs. Ann Roberts.

According to Mrs. Roberts, the patients enjoyed themselves to much that they requested more visits to help brighten the days. At the present time the Federated Women's Club plans to go again in February and in the meantime the members are mounting an effort to interest other groups in making such visits to the hospital.

"World War II seems so unreal and far away but one need only visit a V.A. facility to be reminded how real it really was" Mrs. Roberts commented.

THE MEN WILL BE in charge of a Father and Son party being planned for the boys of Abraham Lincoln elementary school in Daly City, according to Mrs. William Holland, publicity chairman for the P-TA unit.

Hot dogs and soft drinks will be the order of the day when dads and lads have their night out on December 7.

Dean Smith is the chairman of the party which will feature a Forty-niner film and a boxing exhibition by the members of the San Bruno Boys Club.

Cost of the evening will be 50 cents per person. No reservations are necessary, Mrs. Holland said.

MEMBERS OF THE West lake Senior Citizens Club celebrated the eleventh anniversary of the founding of that group with a luncheon at Nick's Rockaway Beach Restaurant in Pacifica.

Mrs. Myra Barr was in charge of the festivities which were highlighted by the appearance of a beautiful anniversary cake.

Next Wednesday the members of the club will join together to celebrate all of the December birthdays, according to Mrs. Frank Specht.

Mrs. Edith Barker and Mrs. Hazel Wagner will decorate a birthday table with special favors for the honorees and a card shower for the celebrants will be held.

Of special interest to seniors who have no use for a full box of Christmas cards will be the single card sale chaired by Ways and Means chairman Mrs. Marie Meyers. Members who desire to purchase just a few cards will be able to take advantage of this unique sale.

THE WESTLAKE CATHOLIC Women will hold their annual Christmas cookie and candy sale on Saturday and Sunday, December 11 and 12, in the parish hall, according to Mrs. Donald Gianfermo, publicity chairman for the Our Lady of Mercy group.

Mrs. John Macia is the sale chairman and Mrs. Sebastian Passanisi is the co-chairman of the event, which will be staged following all the masses.

According to Mrs. Gianferma there are some very beautiful Christmas decorations which will be offered for sale as well as holiday wrapeed cookies, candies and assorted delectables. Santa Claus will be on hand to entertain the small fry while their mothers shop.

Anyone interested in donating baked goods or Christmas decorations may bring her contribution to the parish hall on Saturday between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Cubs Collect Aluminum

Cub dens 1, 2, 3 and Webelos Den 1 are collecting flattened aluminum cans, TV trays, frozen food trays, aluminum wrap and Gift Star coupons found on Golden Grain macaroni and cigarette packs.

These items will be sold and the funds used by Aid to Retarded Children Workshop on 9th Avenue in San Francisco.

Drop-off center for the boys is the home of Pat Baker of Den 3.

One of the main events of the November pack meeting was a "nail pounding" contest. The winner of the contest, in four hits of the hammer, was Mike Tapella of Den 3.

Webelos Den 1, directed by dads Bill Matsuda, Hank Hansel, John Grosshans, Dave Wallis and Ray Decena, have volunteered to help the Vista Mar P-TA clean up after the "Christmas Store" on December 3. By doing this, the boys will have completed the requirements for their Citizen Badge.

The annual Christmas Party will be held at the December pack meeting. Along with the exchange og gifts, the pack will present a basket of food to a needy family.

The boys will be collecting food donations as well as earning money to buy items to fill the basket.

Footballs Are Given Away

Two footballs autographed by the San Francisco 49er's will be given away at the father-son night Dec. 7 at 7 p.m., in the multi-purpose room of Abraham Lincoln Elementary School.

All boys and their dads or male relatives of Abraham Lincoln are invited.

For the 50-cents admission charge, hotdogs, soft-drinks and coffee will be served; the San Francisco Boys Club will give a boxing exhibition; and there will be a 49er Hi-Lights movie.

Dean Smith is the chairman and the fathers have taken complete charge of planning, cooking and clean-up.

A Christmas Boutique Slated

A Christmas Boutique will be held by the Mater Dolorosa Women's Club December 17, at 1:30 p.m. in the church hall, Willow and Miller Avenues, South San Francisco.

One of the features of the boutique will be items priced for children's pocketbooks.

There also will be many gift items that will appeal to mom.

Santa Claus will greet the children, and free hot chocolate and cupcakes will be served. Hot dogs will be sold.

Mrs. George Ferris is boutique chairman and Mrs. Joseph Mifsud is co-chairman.

Mrs. Ronald Eichensehr is chairman of the white elephant booth.

Jeff's Play In Spanish And English

Jefferson High School's fall play, Federico Garcia Lorca's La Casa de Bernarda Alba, will be presented in room 507 on Thursday, and Friday, at 8 p.m.

La Casa de Bernarda is the first play Jeff's Fine Arts Department will perform in Spanish. It also will include an English narration.

Bernarda is the stern matriarch, obsessed with family honor. Widowed as the play opens, she announces to her five daughters that they will enter a traditional eight year period of cloistered mourning. Each of the daughters desires love and affection, but with the doors of their emotions clamped shut, they silently turn to other pursuits; all except one, who manages a secret tryst with a scurrilous suitor.

When it is discovered that the man is the same who has been betrothed to the oldest daughter, the drama is thrown headlong into a tragic climax

The cast includes Michelle Johnson as the narrator, Sonia Sandoval as Bernarda, and Mrs. Sarah Wentworth as the insane grandmother. The five daughters will be portrayed by Rosalinda Rivera, Emma Zermeno, Gloria Saquar, Tania Abud, and Mayra Herrera. Grace Carranza and Ester Cariillo play the servants.

Jeffrey Wentworth, the director, will be aided by Eugne Cejudo as the assistant director and Keith Jacobs as technical director.

The technical staff includes the prompter, Gloria Navarro; scenery and properties, Tina Williams, Mike Shumberger, Renee Jefferson, Juanita Gross, and Marlayna Anderson; costumes, Gina Zito, Linda Smith, and Mrs. Annie Garkus; make-up, Fern Tracey and Anna Mein; lighting, Ron Salazar and Dan Schofield; sound, Keith Jacobs, publicity, Daisy Jiminez, Roger Evans, and Terri Montenegro, house management, Renee Jefferson, Juanita Gross, Maflayna Anderson, and Bonnie Howard.

Historical Exhibit At Millbrae

The Millbrae Historical Society has opened its historical exhibit in the Millbrae Library Annex.

The nucleus of a future museum, the exhibit will contain the visual story of various phases of Millbrae life, both past and present, and will unveil the society's historic documents that tell the story of Millbrae life during the early Spanish period.

Sixty-three documents that date back to 1802, they include Jose Antonio Sanchez's promotions in the Spanish and Mexican Armies, legal documents, letters from relatives delivered to the early Millbrae post office in 1866, grocery lists and other personal items of the original landgrant holders of the Buri Buri Rancho.

Millbrae residents are invited to donate to the society's exhibit such items as old newspapers, photos, snapshots, letters, etc. which are relative to the city's history and used by families who have lived there.

The program for this meeting will feature Harry Tracy, San Francisco Water Company engineer, in a talk titled, "From Flumes to Filteration," — the history of the water company and its relation to Millbrae since 1862.

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

From now until Christmas let's consider goodies that we can make and share with friends and family. This week's offering will be candy.

I find a candy thermometer invaluable in cooking candy. But if you don't have one, here's a list of the different stages of candy cooking. As your candy boils you may test it in this way. Drop a little syrup into ice-cold water and pinch between the thumb and finger.

SOFT BALL STAGE (for fondent or fudge) the syrup forms a soft ball which loses its shape immediately when removed from the water.

FIRM BALL STAGE (for caramels and nougat) the syrup forms a stiff ball which retains its shape for a second or two when removed from the water and then flattens out.

HARD CRACK STAGE (for clear brittle candies) the syrup when dropped in water separates into threads which are hard and brittle.

I'll start off with everyone's favorite, chocolate fudge. This candy is cooked to the soft ball stage.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE

1 and one-third cups light brown sugar
1 cup granulated sugar
Pinch salt
1 Tablespoon butter
2 squares bitter chocolate, grated
½ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine the one and one-third cups brown sugar, one cup white sugar, salt, one tablespoon butter, two squares chocolate and one-half cup evaporated milk which has been combined with the fourth cup water in a large saucepan.

Place over low heat, stirring constantly until sugar dissolves. Cook gently, stirring constantly until mixture begins to boil. When boiling starts, cover and cook rapidly 3 minutes. Uncover and continue boiling to soft ball stage (238 degrees on thermometer). Remove from heat and allow to cool without stirring.

When candy is cool add the teaspoon vanilla and beat with spoon until candy loses its gloss and is creamy. Pour into buttered pan, cool and cut in squares. Makes about 1¼ pounds fudge.

TEMPTATION FUDGE

3 cups sugar
2 Tablespoons instant coffee
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup evaporated milk
½ cup water
2 Tablespoons light corn syrup
3 Tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts
1 package semi-sweet chocholate chips

Combine the three cups sugar, two tablespoons instant coffee and salt in saucepan. Add one cup evaporated milk, half cup water, and two tablespoons corn syrup and bring to boil, stirring constantly. Then continue cooking, stirring constantly, until a small amount of mixture forms soft ball in cold water. Mixture will look curdled, but will become smooth after final beating. Remove from heat, add three tablespoons butter and one teaspoon vanilla, without stirring. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees), then beat until mixture begins to thicken and loses its gloss. Add the half cup nuts and chocolate chips and mix. Spread lightly in greased 8x8-inch pan. Place candied cherries and nuts on top for garnish. When cold cut in squares. Makes about 36 pieces.

To finish off the home-made candy treats, here's a wonderful recipe for peanut brittle. It makes about three pounds.

PEANUT BRITTLE

3 cups white sugar
1 cup white corn syrup
1 cup water
1 pound shelled or salted peanuts
¼ teaspoon salt (omit if salted nuts are used)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 Tablespoon butter
1 Tablespoon soda

In a heavy saucepan combine the three cups sugar, one cup corn syrup and one cup water. Cook over moderate heat, stirring until sugar dissolves. Continue cooking without stirring until it forms a hard ball when small amount dropped in cold water.

Add the one pound peanuts and continue cooking, stirring constantly, until slightly carmelized (at about 300 degrees). Remove from stove and add one-fourth teaspoon salt (if unsalted nuts are used), one teaspoon vanilla, one tablespoon butter and one tablespoon soda. Stir until frothy.

Pour into buttered tins and spread out quickly. Break when brittle.

Terra Nova Topics

By Rockie Montenegro

Senator Arlen Gregorio visit- to TN last Monday, and spoke to an assembled group of Terra Nova Civics and government classes about the rapidly changing and increasingly important role which teenagers play in today's society.

With the advent of the 18-year-old vote, and the passing of new legislation allowing teenagers to run for public office, youth's voice in government is becoming steadily stronger, and youth's responsibilities are multiplying.

In his recent campaign, Senator Gregorio was supported be teen campaigners, a determining force in his election.

He said he was impressed by this, and, as a result, has supported and written various bills and legislation giving teen-agers more rights.

Eighteen is now the legal voting age. This lowering of the voting age from 21 to 18 has also extended political and legal rights to the teenager by allowing him to hold public office and can be considered the legal adult age for practically all purposes, with the exception of legal drinking privileges.

("Changing the drinking age would require a constitutional ammendment," said Gregorio, which means either a 600,000-signature petition by the people or a 2-3 majority vote in both the senate and assembly. Gregorio doesn't think the ammendment would pass.)

"Young people have spoken articulately on the issues in South East Asia, on issues of ethnic discrimination and injustices," said Gregorio. He stated that young people have been in the forefront in expressing concern and displaying awareness of today's national and political issues and problems.

Mayor Grace McCarthy also made an appearance at the TN assembly, urging interested students to use their new privileges by applying for new youth appointments on city commissions and committees.

Candlelight Pledge Given by Sorority

Taking their vows were Dorothy Bowen, Dorothy Girdler, Brenda King, Betty Modena, Adrean Riewarts and Nicole Sike.

A "preferential tea" also was given recently in honor of the pledges at the home of Donna Drew on Grand Teton Drive.

Lorraine Donner, president of Pacifica Beta Sigma Phi city council, and Grace Ryan, president of Preceptor Delta Zeta chapter, poured tea.

Betty Varner, president of Xi Lambda Phi chapter, cut the cake which was intricately decorated with the sorority flower: the yellow rose.

Stella Simmons, twice president of AAO, now of Foster City, attended the tea with her niece, Judith Marsh, of Denver, Colo.

Stella gave a presentation on "What Beta Sigma Phi Means to Me."

The prospective AAO members attended several other get-acquainted meetings before their pledge ritual. All were present at a potluck dinner meeting at the home of Lois Isnor on Edgemar Avenue, where Pat Keane presented a program on "Environment, Health, Work and Play."

Some of the pledges attended AAO's annual Halloween masquerade party at the home of the parents of AAO member Della Thomas (Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Alonso, on Dondee Way in Rockaway Beach).

Miss Pacifica 1972 Could Be the Next Miss America

Somewhere in Pacifica a potential Miss America is residing or attending school and awaiting the chance to be crowned Miss Pacifica 1972, the first step toward the Atlantic City competition.

This was the statement by Entries Co-chairmen, Donna Drew and Linda Shipley in announcing contestants are being accepted for the local award winning pageant to be held Saturday, April 29, 1972.

Sposored by the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, the pageant will award a $1,000 educational scholarship to the young lady who succeeds Miss Debbie Lawler, the reigning queen.

Additional scholarships ranging from $100 to $500 will be awarded the finalists and over $2,000 in prizes, awards, and wardrobe will be sitributed.

To qualify, prospective entranst must be between the ages of 18 and 28 on September 1, 1972, must be a high school graduate by that date, and must never have been married.

Talent will be considered in the judging and each contestant should possess some quality of talent, either trained or potential.

In discussing the talent qualifications, Aubrey Lumley, Executive Director stressed that the range is varied and that no girl must necessarily be trained in any specific field.

He pointed out that many entrants in previous pageants did not realize they possessed a quality of talent until they considered entering the contest.

He also pointed out that in almost every national Miss America Pageant conducted, there have been state queens who have presented dramatic readings or comedy monologues as their talent presentations before a panel of nationally prominent judges.

"Any potential entrant may also have a talent unrealized," Lumley commented, adding that a young lady might be a delightful singer, for example, without ever having exhibited her singing ability before an audience.

In urging civic and social organizations, and individuals to submit candidates, he said that a $50 cash reward will be awarded the person or group that suggests the name of the next Miss Pacifica.

Persons interested in submitting candidates should send them to The Miss Pacifica Pageant, 1641 Higgins Way, Pacifica, Ca. 94044.

The pageant committee will contact the nominee and if she enters and wins the title, the $50 will be awarded the group of individual who suggested the name.

Judirg of the candidates will be based on the same values as considered at the Miss California Pageant and at the national Miss America Pageant.

Poise, beauty and talent are the three major requirements.

Each contestant will be judged in evening gown, swimsuit and in the presentation of her talent.

Entry blanks are available through the Chamber of Commerce, High School Principal Offices, Dean of Women at Skyline and College of San Mateo, Pageant Headquarters (address above), or Strom's Boots 'n Shoes, or by calling 355-4122, 359-0781, or 359-5915.

'Mother-Daughter Night' At Southwood in S.S.F.

FAMILY FORUM

Southwood Junior High School's Girls Athletic Association of South San Francisco held its second annual mother-daughter night.

Miss Marie Strand, G.A.A. advisor, opened the evening with an introductory speech and Cheryl Searson spoke about the G.A.A.'s volleyball program that had ended.

The members of the G.A.A. brought their mothers to participate in games of volleyball and basketball. A special added attraction was the basketball game with five members of Southwood's faculty playing against five member teams composed of members from the G.A.A

Caught All Off Guard

DALY CITY CITY TREASURER Joseph Lewkowitz caught most persons off-guard when he handed in his resignation the other day. He cited business reasons. It is true that Joe's service station is expanding and will soon be one of the largest in the area, but that isn't the whole story.

Less than a year ago, Joe was hit with a heart attack. Mild or not it must have shook him up pretty bad. Since that time he has let drop several of the volunteer jobs he took upon himself over the years, like working night and day for charitable events. He retired from the Jefferson Elementary School Board of Trustees after 18 years. And now he has left his city post.

Businesses don't run themselves. Joe isn't as young as he used to be (he's 63) and the city treasury needs more watching than ever before. The choice was difficult, Joe admits, but his family and business won out. And now the city starts looking for a replacement.

FIRE DEPARTMENT has sent out warnings on those new-fangled plastic cooking bags. Folks that put their birds or roasts (or what have you) in the bags and then place them in a shallow pan, or nopan at all, may end up with a blazing oven. The bags DO leak and grease runs out, overflows the shallow pan and catches fire.

FOR THOSE MAILING EARLY — JUHSD assistant superintendent and former Stanford football star Glen South transferred from Stanford Medical Center back to Peninsula. Doing nicely after surgery. Still no visitors. Cards would be nice.

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS shoplifting early. It's that season when shoplifters have a field day. They take everything and anything from the stores. You know who ends up losing money because of these crooks? You and Friendly Frank, that's who! Frankly speaking I'm sick and tired of paying for this type of freeloading. Most folks don't want to get involved and when they see someone neatly tucking an article into their purse, pocket or under their coat they keep quiet and look the other way. Not me! No more! From now on I'm screaming for the Store Dick and if you want to keep those prices down I'd suggest you do the same. All it takes is a quiet "tip" to a store employee.

WE WOULD BE REMISS if we didn't mention that EVERYONE (politically speaking) was there the other night. By "there" we mean the Westlake Merchants Association Dance annually held at the Thunderbolt Hotel. Sal Carson provided the sounds and Sylvia Gaylord the vocals on those oldies, but goodies. The flower centerpieces were nicely arranged by Westlake Flowers, service was satisfactory and the food tasty. Let's see, did we forget anything in this bit of flackery? Oh, yes, the hostess who greeted folks was lovelier this year than last, although it was the same girl. We once again refuse to share her name with anyone. But we can tell you this: she works at Leeds shoes at Westlake.

GRIPES DEPT. — Among the things which irk persons in this business are individuals who ask you someplace, then expect you to do great things for them later. They "use" you, in other words. Poet Robert Frost reputedly hated to go to parties because of this. (I'm beginning to know how he felt) At any rate, so the story goes, he gave in and went to a cocktail gathering at the home of a famous Washington, D.C. hostess. As was expected by the poet, he was pushed on everyone as "The Robert Frost." When it came time to leave his hostess remarked she hoped he had enjoyed himself. "Madam, that's the ONLY person I enjoyed here tonight," he replied. Bully for him!

OPERATION SANTA CLAUS is underway. And, as usual, more than 100 persons from the community — all over the community — will volunteer to make up the packages, solicit foods and funds, and distribute the toys and chow when the day comes. This worthy cause needs YOUR help.

It needs that help badly. There are those within this community, believe it or not, that would try to disrupt this project, which has functioned smooth-as-a-clock for the past 20 years under the watchful eye of Peter J. (Pete) Markovich.

Last year, Pete and his people got a kick in the teeth from a couple of people instead of a handshake. The huff was over some allegedly bad canned goods to one family out of the more than 200 served. It was the first such complaint in almost two decades.

We would hope that this well-publicized (at the time) criticism of Operation Santa Claus will not keep some child from getting a toy this year or a family that will not have a nice dinner like you and I will have (God willing). Got something to give? Call Pete at 755-8526. If a lady answers say "howdy."

ACCORDING TO WEBSTER, an "Iconoclast" is "a person who attacks or ridicules traditional or venerated institutions or ideas regarded by him as erroneous or based on superstition."

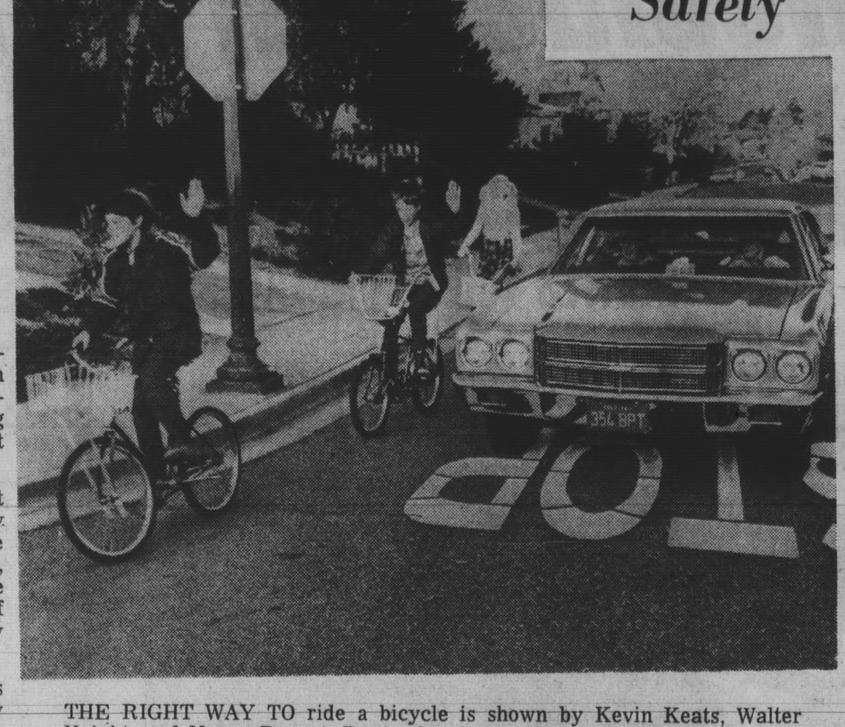
Brian Lawson once wrote a column circulated in the North County under the heading of "the Iconoclast." Mr. Lawson wrote a splendid column, much enjoyed by myself and others outside of government. However, more than one city official chafed under the bite of "the Iconoclast."

AND NOW, LO AND BEHOLD, Mr. Lawson, who left the newspaper game, bid farewell to Assemblyman Leo Ryan (for whom he worked after leaving the paper) now is the subject of a Daly City purchase order for 165 hours of work at a cost of $6 an hour.

His duty project is to put together a brochure on the recently established Redevelopment Agency.

We want to say, here and now, that we have absolutely nothing against putting together a brochure at a cost of $990, plus printing costs. Nor could we suggest a more qualified writer than Mr. Lawson who we consider to be an accomplished journalist. We merely point up how time does indeed "heal all wounds."

Bike Safely



THE RIGHT WAY TO ride a bicycle is shown by Kevin Keats, Walter Haight, and Nancy Rupert. Proper hand signals are given, and the riders are on the right side of the road. (See Vera Graham Story below.)

IT'S DANGEROUS and against the law to have two on a bike. Vincent and Tricia Keats demonstrate how not to ride a bike.

Bike Thefts Mount

A Flourishing Business

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Theft of bicycles statewide now outnumbers automobile thefts according to recent crime statistics.

However police admit the recovery of stolen cars is far higher than bicycles.

So acute is the stolen bike racket that it has become a flourishing interstate business.

The state Legislature has taken cognizance of this fact and has proposed legislation to thwart the criminals — or at least assist police in the recovery of the two-wheeled vehicles.

Bicycles today are not the 25 variety that was common among kids ten year ago. They are now sleek, ten-speed vehicles costing upwards of $75 and owned by both adults and youth.

Last year in Daly City, a typical California community experiencing the same problems in this field as other cities, there were 255 bikes stolen.

To date this year the figure has shot up to 309 and many top 400, police speculate.

"It's a very lucrative business," police sergeant Stephen Steen points out.

What plagues police is there is nust no way of identifying a suspected stolen bike.

Police have recommended identification numbers be stamped on bikes by local departments for a nominal fee and the bike be furnished with a license plate.

Any bike spotted without a license plate will be stopped and checked. If the bike has been stolen and the ID number has been filed off, police will haul it in.

"We're not trying to implement this program to harass kids. We want to protect their property," Capt. Richard Sims said.

Both Sims and Steen said they have undertaken a concentrated drive to reduce bike thefts in their city starting with a plea to citizens to have family bicycles registered with police.

(Licenses can be obtained any Saturday between 9 a.m. and noon.)

The anti-bicycle theft campaign will also solicit the cooperation of stores selling bicycles in handing out material designed to encourage the licensing of bikes.

The department's successful "Officer Bill" school program will now include the distribution of similar material asking children to have their parents insure family bikes are registered, Capt. Sims said.

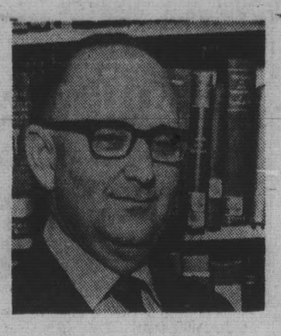
Cost of licensing a bicycle is 50 cents, which provides a decal and a serial number stamped onto the frame.

How does a bicyle owner secure his vehicle to prevent thefts, Sims was asked?

"There is no practical way to secure them," was the answer.

So good are bike thieves at their profession a simple snip with a pair of boltcutters can slice through even the thickest chain, Sims said.

He quickly added that chains and locks "are better than nothing at all."



The Book Shelf

By Samuel Chandler

The Collectors' Breed

Collectors are a breed by themselves.

Like the lady who kissed her cow each insists on doing his own thing.

Whatever his fancy — baby bottles, napkin rings, stamps, old coins etc. — each collector has a disease that Larry Freeman calls "half madness, half ecstacy and infinitely arresting."

"No single book," Freeman continues," could record the debt which civilization owes the collector. As a preserver of antiquities, he has given continuity to the past and the present. As a student he has dug up an almost forgotten lore. As an exhibitor he has shared his knowledge with a wide audience. Over and above all of this he has the satisfaction of knowing that his exertions have enriched rather than degraded the human race."

FREEMAN'S BOOK, "One Collector's Luck" was written in 1946 to highlight a number of collecting subjects without treating any one completely. It was the forerunner of many that give the collector valuable guides. Among them are a series of handbooks by John Bedford and others.

Each book in the series is intended for the reader who has limited knowledge of the objects he collects, but is nevertheless seeking the satisfaction that one collector calls "the golden fruit of a truly civilized man."

Among the volumes is one that directs the collector of silhouettes which the author writes in a field that is open for the novice collector. The book contains five chapters that were written to make an expert out of the novice.

Aside from this main purpose, it is a book that presents a side of history that few people contemplate.

"Through the history of silhouettes we follow changing modes; and there are no more delightful and attractive things than these somehow rather moving shades of our ancestors," the author writes, noting that silhouettes are a record of the tastes and fancies of man especially in his apparal.

OTHER BOOKS in the series direct the collectors of such items as small boxes, old Sheffield plate, Toby jugs, pewter, colored glass objects, Wedgwood ware, delftware, old Spode china, paperweights, and jewelry.

According to the author of the piece on jewelry, the romantic age of jewelry lasted from the 1830s to the beginning of the present century. It was an age that loved ornamentation, an age that produced folk jewelry, and exciting novelties.

It was the Victorian age with brooches being carved according to the rage of the day. Such rages as Pre-Raphaelite and Art Nouveau are among the things that caused the creation of jewelry that is being collected the world over.

To aid the thousands of collectors, Bedford places in most of the books in his series glossaries and illustrations that benefit many collectors who are engaged in what Larry Freeman calls the greatest sport in the world, rummaging, in other words, collecting.

State Law Says Bike Riders In Same Boat as the Auto Drivers

By VERA GRAHAM

The law requires that bicycles be operated under the California Vehicle Code.

Most bike riders don't know this.

Most bike riders believe they should ride on the opposite side of the road facing oncoming traffic. That is a violation of the vehicle code.

The code requires that bikes travel single file—on the right side of the road.

These are some of the safety admonitions brought to public attention today by Mrs. Mary Haight. She is a member of the citizens' committee which has helped promote a bicycle route network throughout San Mateo and which now is promoting public awareness of bike safety rules.

Mrs. Haight said "My concern is that many cyclists, particularly youngsters, don't know the safety rules of the road. They are unaware that the California Vehicle Code applies to them, too.

"Too many are driving down the left side of the road, facing traffic and think they are doing the right thing. They are not. They are considered a vehicle and must stay on the right side of the road along with auto traffic.

Motorists, Mrs. Haight said, must be on the alert for cyclists. There are more people of all ages on bikes in San Mateo than ever before.

Many cyclists, she added, are novices, and are unsure of themselves on the bikes, hence the added need for special care by motorists.

She listed the following main vehicular traffic rules which apply to bicyclists:

1. Observe all traffic regulations, signs, lights and one-way streets.
2. Keep to the right and ride in a straight line. Always ride single file.
3. Have a white light in front and a red light or reflector on the back for night riding.
4. Watch out for cars pulling out into traffic, doors opening, etc. Ride defensively. Anticipate what the driver will do.
5. Never hitch a ride on another vehicle or race in traffic.
6. Carry no passengers or objects which interfere with vision or control.
7. Give the pedestrian the right-of-way.
8. Make sure brakes are in good working order.
9. Slow down at all intersections. Look to the left and right before crossing.
10. Always use proper hand signals for turning and stopping.
11. Don't weave in and out of traffic or swerve from side to side.
12. Make sure your bike is properly licensed.

Mrs. Haight said that the committee ultimately hopes to get a full set of rules and safety hints out to every school. Hopefully they will be printed on the back of the bike route map which San Mateo Traffic Engineer Richard Hopper is preparing for publication.

'Sure Loser' Can Win State Voters

By JAMES HALLEY

Many modern elections are lost before the fight has begun. Clever observers study early polls, test the air, and withdraw before joining battle. Unwilling to risk defeat, money men and political workers withhold support and, on occasion, the candidate himself just goes through the motions.

But every once in a while, the chemistry of a "sure loser" has a dash of energy and vitality that overcomes the drag of know-it-all defeatism. Today I would like to analyze two unusual cases in which courage overcame sophistication.

First, consider William Brophy. He is now in Sacramento because he kept on running. If his campaign had a game plan, it could only be called victory through defeat.

In the past year, Brophy ran in four elections. Following the 1970 general election a vacancy occurred in a state Senate seat in sprawling central Los Angeles. Brophy, an able, attractive candidate ran and won a bruising primary, but was badly defeated in the run off by incumbent Assemblyman David Roberti.

This left Roberti's Assembly seat vacant, and Brophy ran again. This district was 32 per cent Republican and gloom and doom cast a pall over the Republican opportunity. The fighting primary was among Democrats, and Brophy, who gathered 34 per cent of the vote survived only because of serious division in the other party.

Then came the final, or, as it appeared for Brophy's career, the final final. Almost everyone who could count stayed away. By election night his supporters were able to meet in a very small room indeed. Among the brave band gathered to face whatever had to be faced was only one state wide leader—Put Livermore, Republican State Chairman.

Livermore, like Brophy, believed in following every opportunity. In his pocket was a letter written months before by campaign aide Ron Smith. This memo suggested that a candidate might just win an Assembly seat by running, running and running. The name exposure, reasoned Smith might turn the trick. By that last night it must be wondered if even Livermore believed this possible.

And then — Voila! Brophy won, and from the ashes arose a new Assemblyman. Author Kevin Phillips, of southern strategy fame, had been heard brooding about the condition of the California Republican Party, and in support of his conclusions had cited an inevitable Brophy loss. Phillips, it seems, had been part of the problem, not of the solution. In this, he had a good deal of company.

The second example can be found in this year's supervisoral election in San Francisco and the surprising strength of Robert Gonzales. Gonzales, a Democrat, may be the nation's most attractive Mexican American candidate. A member of a California Rose Bowl football team and practising lawyer, he is a man with a future.

But last summer his public life was more associated with the past. He had been appointed to the Board, and had never previously faced election. Now he was forced to enter the biennial dog fight for six Board seats. In this struggle, the group of incumbents tends to remain clustered, and any straggler is soon consumed by the howling pack of newcomers.

Early on, Gonzales was picked by many as the beatable incumbent. Preliminary polls showed him as out of the running and he was denied several important early endorsements.

But Gonzales, like Brophy, kept on going. So did his workers who never did act as though the campaign might be lost. Financial help was hard to come by, but two men, Albert Elledge and George Burger, both of whom are active in the Fisherman's Wharf area, were mainstays in providing and encouraging the necessary flow of money.

Again, election night. And again, surprise. Six places were open and Gonzales failed to come in sixth. He also didn't come in fifth or fourth. This doughty campaigner captured third place to the surprise of all because he had the courage to keep on fighting.

These stories developed in local elections illustrate a point common to state and national politics as well. Some candidates fail only because they and their supporters fear loss. Others win because they believe in playing the hand out and doing as well as possible. Those who doubt the benefits of following the latter course should remember Assemblyman Brophy, Supervisor Gonzales, and Presidents Truman and Nixon.

Last-Minute Score

Passing Drops Cap

By STEVE JOHNSON

Passing has never been one of Bob Fields' favorite concerns. The first-year Mills coach is one of those grind-it-out types. He enjoys watching his backs churn for yardage the way most people enjoy eating.

To Field, running is the way to win. Passing is something only used when the other guy isn't looking for it.

But Thanksgiving day against host Capuchino, Field found out something new about passing. It can win ball games. And as a result, the Vikings took home a thrilling 14-12 win over the 'Tangs in the final Mid-Peninsula League game for both teams.

The big discovery came with about a minute left. With the Mustangs leading and nightmares of upset dancing in his head, Field figured it was time for drastic action. He sent in urgent orders for Jay Merrill, the Vike QB who had led the MPL in passing last year, to start throwing.

Jay responded by hitting big tight end Chuck Hextrum three times, and Steve Donati and Bill Giavia once each for clutch gains, moving the ball all the way from his own 39 to the Cap eight.

Five seconds left — just one more play. Calmly, Merrill dropped back for the last time this season, and let go. The ball-lofted over the Green and Gold defenders into the hands of ex-safety Donati, and Mills had one of those miracle wins you only read about in the diary of George Blanda.

"The pass was there the whole game," said Field, "but we just didn't take it. I'm glad we finally did. The team kept right on coming to the last, and I'm very happy about that. We waited to the last minute to play, but we made that big play when we had to."

Mills had been in deep trouble for most of the game. Capuchino, playing for nothing but pride, actually dominated much of the action until that last disastrous minute.

The Mustangs scored first, for maybe the biggest surprise of all. Quarterback Ken Swan took off around end on an option, and then waiting perfectly until two defenders had grabbed him, pitched to trailing halfback Jay Garcia, who shot 25 yards down the sideline untouched to pay-dirt.

Mills came back to get the lead briefly in the second quarete, with the defense claiming a kill. With Cap backed up deep in its own territory, little Bruce Leclergue was sent in to try a third down pass. He never got it off.

Vike end Andy Douglas blindsided Leclergue with a vicious smash on the two, and the ball dribbled into the end zone, where Douglas happily fell on it for his second such score of the year.

The Mustangs took the ensuing kickoff and went on a 10-play, 64-year scoring march right before the end of the half. Shane Graham went 11 yards with a pitch from Swan for the final yards.

The second half developed as a sparring match between the two defenses. Nobody was going anywhere. Mills' unsually potent rushing attack, weakened by the loss of back Ken Place, got some brutal treatment. Cap did a little better, with Swan making some progress with his option series, but the Viking stoppers held when they had to

The turning point finally came early in the fourth quarrter after Capuchino's Walt Dabney had returned an interception 47 yards to the Mills 14. A score here would have been the clincher, but the Viking defenders weren't budging. Cap got four straight shots from the three, and four straight times Mills held, finally taking over on downs from the one-inch line.

That show of power finally got Mills moving. Two exchanges later, Merrill took his arm out of mothballs, and you can ask him about the rest.

"That goal line stand was the key," said Field. "The way the game worked out, maybe that was the biggest play we had all day. Of course, that last touchdown was just overwhelming, but for me, it wasn't that emotional. We didn't run it over. But the object is to win and any way we do it is fine with me."

Even for a guy who would rather run than pass, what else could he say?

SC Cagers Lose Their First Game

Skyline basketball coach Walt Rilliet may have to do a little brushing up on his halftime talk techniques.

His Trojan cagers took a 16-point halftime lead into the dressing room against Monterey Peninsula College Friday but allowed the hosting quintet to score 44 points in the second half as Skyline lost its 1971 opener, 65-63.

Skyline's fast break was the ploy that got the Trojans to that first half bulge but living by the sword . . . etc., etc. Monterey's press and run tactics proved more than Skyline could handle after intermission and they not only knocked off the 16-point Skyline lead but actually held a 65-60 lead with less than a minute to go.

"The press shouldn't have bothered us as it did," Rilliet said. "We get that lead and then blow it just as quickly. I don't remember what I said at halftime but it must have been hyponotizing."

With 34 seconds left in the game Skyline center Paul Reynolds hit a three-point play to close to 65-63. The Trojans regained possession with five seconds left and quickly got the ball upcourt but Reynolds' foul-line jumper was blocked as the buzzer sounded.

Mike Larios led the Trojan scorer with 14 with guard Herbo Eastman garnering another 12.

LE PACINI

Sportscripts

Guess it's about time, after nine years of writing this thing, to clear up a couple of personal mysteries about it. Like, for instance, the name of the column.

There has always been some confusion about this. The last time I looked, the name of the column was "Le Pacini." Somewhere back, until May of this year, it was called "Le Pacini's Sports Scripts." Then one of the guys in the back shop must have dropped the "Sports Scripts" part on the floor, because the next week it was called "Le Pacini's."

Then it finally became "Le Pacini," undoubtedly because someone just can't think of such another clever name. Either that or because they just don't feel like making up another lead slug saying "Sports Scripts." Which is just as well, because I never liked that name.

NOW THAT I THINK OF IT, they must have dropped "Sports Scripts" on the floor the same day they lost my picture. That was the third picture they had used over the column, and each one was getting worse looking.

Anyway, nobody has ever asked me what I'd like my column to be named. I've always thought a dandy name would be "On the Spo(r)t." Get it? Oh well, I guess "Le Pacini" is about as original as one might dare.

Speaking of my name, it is pronounced "Lee Pacheenee," accent on the second syllable. Strangely enough, nobody has ever had trouble pronouncing my last name (can a name like Pacini be a mystery in an area which used to be mostly artichoke fields, vegetable gardens and nurseries?); it's been only the first. Most people think it's pronounced "La" and that it's part of the last name, a sort of prefix. To many people all these years, I've been a sort of Fabian, or Liberace. You know, a one-name personality.

When people find out how to properly pronounce my first name they invariably become perturbed and ask me why I don't spell it normally, with a double "E." I don't do it that way because it isn't normal.

MY FULL HANDLE is Louis Le Roy Pacini, the first name after my father, the second after my uncle (who avoided all this trouble by calling himself "Roy"). No one in my family ever called me Lou because my father would always answer, and people normally don't like to talk to him. So my family has always, at least when they weren't angry with me, called me "Le." So why spell "Le" with two E's when Le Roy is spelled with only one "E"? Logical, no?

So there you have it. The true, unexpurgated, never-before-told, intimate, inside story of the workings of this column and its author, as you like him.

This is a G-Rated sports column.

WRITING THAT column a couple of weeks ago about the Diamond Jubilee anniversary of our alma mater, Mission High School, sent us reeling nostalgically to the old press clippings, and we ran across the listed first and second string varsity football lineups (as rated by then-coach Alex Schwartz, now at City College of San Francisco) of 1949.

My, how kids have grown since then. Mission's first and second string lines averaged 174 and 175 pounds, respectively, the biggest first stringer being 190-pound guard Jim Jones, the largest second team men being tackles Joe Davis and Joe Miles, who also went at 190. The backfields averaged 159 and 157 pounds, respectively.

The line for the 1950 San Francisco All-City football squad averaged 182; the backfield, 169. There was only one 200-pounder on the entire team — tackle Chuck Martucci of Balboa, who weighed in at a tank-like 206.

Ah, those were the days; small but slow.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE 49ERS, you ask? Simple. Nothing that an occasional touchdown wouldn't cure.

Our boys roll up impressive offensive yardage statistics, but rather unimpressive point scoring stats. They're either snake-bit or have grown a big olive in their adam's apple. Everytime they get within serious scoring range, it seems, a lineman holds or Brodie throws an interception, or he's whacked for a big loss.

What's ironic about the situation is that the 49ers still have the passing combinations that ripped up the league last year, and a greatly improved running game with the addition of Vic Washington and a slimmed down Ken Willard.

Trouble is, the passing combinations just aren't clicking this year. Some people say it's due to the wider spacing in the offensive line, which helps the ground game but allows more pressure to be put on Brodie. Thus, he's being thrown for more losses and

Eagles Defeat Blackbirds In Daly City Soccer Play

Daly City Recreation Division's Boys' Soccer League results — Boys Under 8: Golden Eagles — 4, Blackbirds — 2.

Golden Eagles now lead the series, 2 to 1.

Both teams showed real progress in man to man play. Danny Lewbin, Kurt Ricci, Jeff Glosser and Jim Moorehead especially determined on offense and stubborn on defense for the winners. For the Blackbirds Angelo Dapello was the pivot man with assistance from Frank Willsey on offense. Jason Bruni as goalie made several courageous saves.

Boys Under 10: Olympic Club under 12, 4 — Westlakes under 10, 0.

An interesting game despite the lopsided score by the older team from out of town. The Westlaker team got above average performances from Larry Hanson as goalie, Dan Avenal as defending fullback, Orlando Romero speedy winger and Teresa Abrahamsohn their fine pass distributing "Miss" centerhalf, soccer's equivalent of the quarterback.

Boys under 12 — Olympic Club's under 14 defeated the Westlakers' under 12 by 2 to 1 in an evenly fought contest, despite the age difference. For the Westlakers Mike Teichner and Brenda Spirz showed better than average ball control and passing skill.

Radicals Win Second Place

The Daly City Recreation Division's Sunday Softball League has concluded and the Radicals edged the Stone Ponies, 7-5.

Earlier in the day the Ponies beat the Mets for the right to play the Radicals for second place.

The Ponies had an easy time of it in the first game. Terry Piccado pitched ball for the Ponies in their 13-1 stomp of the Mets. Joe Skaar and Smyth both hit homers for the Ponies.

Vista Mar, Colma and Skyline Teams Win the Championships

Vista Mar School and Crocker School finally got together for the showdown game in the seventh and eighth grade Atlantic Conference.

In a game that figured to be close, only two points separated the two antagonists.

Vista Mar won the game and the conference title, 8-6. The winning safety was scored by Chris Laing.

In other games, Skyline pushed over three late TD's to defeat Robertson, 42-22. Robertson featured some great running by Robinson who scored all 3 of their touchdowns. Skyline School had balance as Steve Daniele tallied three times, Robin Hill twice and Steve Kanon once. Kirby Floyd played well on defense for Skyline.

Abraham Lincoln School squeaked by Colma in the final game, 6-0. Eliopolous scored the only TD of the game for the Lincoln victory.

M. P. Brown rocked F. D. Roosevelt 30-0. Rick Wyatt threw three touchdown passes to Rick Yozon and Ken De Alba ran for two more scores. John Dracco and Frank Colclough were outstanding on defense.

rushing his throws more when he does get them off, which accounts for the interceptions. There is also the matter of Gene Washington being double-covered all the time instead of occasionally, which does allow Brodie to hit for the short and medium pitches to tight end Ted Kwalick, but which also takes away the bomb, the quick score that the 49ers have obviously been missing this year.

We have our own theory. Having mentally compared the way Brodie was throwing for much of last year with the way he's throwing this year, we've come to the conclusion that he's playing with a bad arm. The old zing is gone, and with it the pin-point accuracy for which Brodie has always been known.

WE HAVE ANOTHER THEORY concerning the woes of the 49ers, but it isn't new. It's one we've espoused before in this space. That theory is that Dick Nolan is a vastly overrated head coach. Like his mentor, Tom Landry, he doesn't get all he should out of excellent raw material.

Landry, after all, has had some of the best talent in football for years, now, but has never won a championship with Dallas. Yet, he's called a genius. That's because he has made a basically simple game into a complicated one. He has somehow managed to make relatively simple skills like good blocking andtackling and basic execution into highly technical machinations. In doing so, he has made those of us who don't know how to analyze computer read-outs feel like ignoramuses. So as a defense mechanism, we automatically declare someone who can understand something that we can't as a genius.

Since Nolan is a self-acknowledged disciple of Landry's, we can come to no other conclusion than that the 49ers are destined for the same fate as the Cowboys. Spectacular ultimate failure.

What Landry and Nolan obviously lack, it seems to us, is not technical skill, but leadership; the ability to make men block and tackle and execute not only technically well, but beyond even what they themselves might feel physically capable of. If a man is willing to put out 110 per cent for his coach, he can afford to be perhaps 5 per cent deficient in the technical aspects of his game.

We think that 22 exceptionally tough, determined, inspired men will always beat a computer.

Nolan, we feel, would make a great assistant coach. As a leader, he makes a fine computer.

RANDOM NOTES: Are you, like us, one of those people who keep telling yourselves the Rams are lousy? Tommy Prothro is a funny kind of coach. All he does with a lousy team is win . . . And was it our imagination, during the last 49er-Ram game, or did network play-by-play expert Ray Scott really call Vic Washington "Dick" Washington for the entire game? . . . Geoff DeLapp, one of Cal's excellent wide receivers, must be wondering what a guy has to do to get recognition. All he did was lead the PAC-8 in pass receptions, yet he didn't even get an Honorable Mention on the UPI All-Coast squad.

LOCAL NOTES: Former NPL stars Grant Cvitanich (defensive tackle from Westmoor) and Bob Stuckey (defensive tackle from Terra Nova) both had fine years for the San Francisco State Gators who came back from a winless season last year to a 5-6 record this time around.

The first half of the Adult Basketball League, sponsored by the Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department, closed with the Black Knights leading the league with a 5-0 record.

Dave Stevens and Sandy Beall combined for 27 points, as the Moonraker moved into second place by edging past Kerri's, 50-45. Mike Kennedy paced Kerri's by scoring 13 points.

The Black Knights broke the Adult Basketball League scoring record as they crushed the hapless Rochester ball club 103-50. Mac Smith and Curt Clark hit for 34 and 30 points respectively for the winners. Rich Gaines paced the losers with 16 points.

The French Club made its victory number two as they cracked past Dial Glass, 60-53. John Hamlin led the French Club's offense with 24 points, while Roy Zattiero paced the loswers with 14 points.

CSM Eighth in JC X-Country

Bob Rush is quite satisfied with College of San Mateo's eighth place finish in the state JC cross-country championships Saturday.

It was the same placing as last year for the two-time Golden Gate Conference champions and Rush figures finishing eighth among the more than 80 JC teams in the state isn't a bad way to finish a successful season.

Soph Neil Glenesk was the surprise CSM leader in 26th place, ahead of usual top Bulldog Jose Cortez, who finished 21:27. Frosh Scott Carvey out of Carlmont placed 47th for CSM in 21:50.

County Team Led by Jeff Quarterback

By CHRIS STAVE

The members of The Post 1971 All-County Prep Football Team had one thing in common this season: they dominated.

No matter what team or what league each played in, each had a disproportionate effect on the game around him.

This was as true of players from so-so teams, like quarterback Chinto Fonseca of Jefferson, as it was of the ones from championship squads, like the bundle of picks from South San Francisco and Burlingame.

Fonseca heads a well-balanced offense of awesome striking power. He's probably too small to play college ball (5-9, 155), but he's a deadly accurate passer up to 20 yards and holds all the North Peninsula League passing marks.

He's got three former NPL rivals on the attack force in backs Hank Love (SSF), Jeff Yerian (Half Moon Bay) and wide receiver Bob McLennan.

The other two backfield picks are from the South Peninsula Athletic League: back Tim Mehan of Sequoia and big 6-6 flanker Jim Watts of Menlo-Atherton.

The tight end is Chuck Hextrum of Mills, a 6-6, 220-pound giant who performs just as well on the defensive line.

Although size isn't always necessary for excellence in the line, the offense from tackle to tackle is fairly big, averaging an even six feet and 195 pounds.

Mike Cozad of South San Francisco and Bob Black of Burlingame are the tackles, junior Jeff Funke of SSF and Jim Grimsley of San Mateo the guards, and Carlmont's Bob Lewis is the center. All are versatile blockers; all have played both ways.

The defensive line is bigger, but no less quick. The front wall averages 6-1, 211 pounds. South City's Mike Balestieri and San Mateo's Dennis Haysbert, both members of exceedingly stingy defenses during the season, are the ends.

The men on the interior are Woodside's Dave Waxman, Serra's Russ Nicolopulos, Terra Nova's Norm Lacy and Crestmoor's Stu Bringhurst. Bringhurst is the only other junior on the team.

The linebackers are standouts even on this team. Dale Curry of San Mateo is one of the most sought-after athletes on the Peninsula. Burlingame's Greg Houts was the star of a good defense, and turned more than one game around. And Carlmont's Steve Agni, who also played tight end, was a terror.

The defensive backfield is a versatile group. Each augmented superb pass defense with another specialty.

South San Francisco's Bob Bachtold was perhaps the county's best punter. Jim Edelstein of San Carlos was also one of the premier ball carriers in the SPAL. And Hillsdale's Scott

There is also a spot on the All-County team for a kicking specialist, primarily because there was a very good one operating at Westmoor this year.

Brian McNamara didn't get too many chances to show off his soccer-style virtuosity, but when he did, the results were amazing. One field goal, in the last game, traveled 56 yards from placement to crossbar. McNamara possessed one other golden attribute: consistency.

So there they are, those that made their individual presences felt the most—the ones that dominated.

WHS Girls in Lowell Victory

Westmoor Girls' basketball team defeated Lowell, 32-26, Friday afternoon at Westmoor.

It was the second time the two teams had played this year, Lowell won the first game.

The outstanding player of the game was senior Patty Rowell, who scored 13 points for Westmoor, although hindered by a sprained finger.

One Last Look At the Gridiron

THE FINALE TO the prep football season Thanksgiving, which saw Burlingame best San Mateo 6-0 to take the Little Big Game and the Mid-Peninsula League title simultaneously, couldn't have been more perfect.

There is still a remnant of tradition alive for that game, with all the good-time silliness that entails. The day before the contest found both campuses heavily TPed (for those unfamiliar with the vernacular, TPing is liberally strewing garlands of bathroom tissue about the landscape).

Also, the day before, the Burlingame Rotary Club invited their San Mateo counterparts and members of both teams to a luncheon which included serious speeches by coaches, not-so-serious speeches by rooters, and a lot of a capella noise from both school's cheerleaders.

It may be the only day of the year when such community support is manifest, but we'll take what we can get.

The game itself couldn't have disappointed anybody too much; real hurt comes only when somebody plays badly, and neither team did. Burlingame linebacker Greg Houts made a couple of clutch plays that tipped the balance—a blocked punt and some pass defense — but it took that kind of individual effort to make the difference.

Houts is our last football Athlete of the Week; it's his second time this season, I believe.

AND HERE, FOR THOSE who still care, are the final grid ratings, now that all the games have been decided and picking is relatively easy: 1. SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO (9-0) . . . there's absolutely no truth to the rumor that rival NPL coaches are circulating a petition requesting that S.S.F. coach Ray De Jong move to Amchitka; 2. BURLINGAME (7-2) . . . the Panthers let down a couple of times, but always played best against the best; 3. SAN MATEO (6-3) . . . a team that did well with a lot of juniors in the skill positions, which means watch out next year; 4. CARLMONT (7-2) . . . the Scots experienced a fine revival under Bud Sweet, and just barely missed a title; 5. HILLSDALE (6-3) . . . a team that was always hard to figure, but ended up doing the right thing at least once in a ball game, usually near the end.

WE WERE ALL READY for a vacation until we looked at the prep basketball schedules and discovered that — gasp — everything gets under way this week. Starting tomorrow. Hard to believe it's almost Christmas. Time to get back indoors, into the cavelike atmosphere of the gymnasium (we have in mind particularly Burlingame's gym, which only seems like it's illuminated by a single 25-watt bulb). Where half the rooters can make twenty times the noise. And where communication with your fellow man is as easy as feeling his knee in your kidney (economy of space is much amired in a high school gymnasium).

Still, most of the Times prep staff has had football up to the ears and is looking forward to a little hardcourt action. Especially now that the rains are here.

Cage Program In Millbrae Scheduled

Anyone interested in playing in a basketball tournament to be held during Christmas vacation and is between the ages of 14 and 17 or is presently in high school, should contact the Millbrae Park and Recreation Department.

There is only room for eight teams in the double elimination tournament, so entry should be made as soon as possible.

The Department is also making plans for persons or groups interested in such hobbies as chess, stamps, coins, puppetry, bridge, cars, music, ecology, bicycling, dancing, drama, hiking, exploring, movie making, knitting, dolls, astrology, photography, and astronomy, and would enjoy meeting and talking with others who have similar interests with the possibility of forming a club, to contact Terry Jewell at the Department.

Persons having special talents in various areas of recreation, and would be interested in working part-time for the Department should contact Barbara Morris.

A Small Fry program for first, second and third graders is meeting at the various school playgrounds. For registration and further information contact your playground leader.

Tourney Day

Pacifica recreation football ended with a Tournament Day at Ortega School.

Each team, included third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades took part in a game pitting the Northern Dvision at each grade level against the Southern Division.

Camp Fire Girls Hold Annual Meet

District VI Camp Fire girls composed of Daly City, Pacifica, and Half Moon Bay recently held their annual meeting at Nick's Rockaway at which time new adult officers were installed and awards were given for outstanding achievement in the program.

After a luncheon and welcome by Mrs. Bob Perruquet, who planned the affair, Mrs. Julian Reinhertz, chairman of the Awards Committee, handed out the awards.

The Wakan Award went to Mrs. Sharon Martinez for not only giving outstanding leadership to her group for seven years, but also significant contributions above and beyond the normal in the fields of training and camping. She also heads up an Area, Service team in Pacifica.

The Charlotte Joy Farnsworth awards went to Mrs. Richard Freund, and Mrs. Lewis Lovelady for outstanding services to Camp Fire girls while members of the District Committee.

Besides being an assistant leader for four years Mrs. Freund was recognized for her service as Day Camp chairman for the First District Day Camp and for her efforts as publicity chairman.

Mrs. Lovelady was recognized not only for her group leadership of five years, but for being the chairman of the Pacifica leaders association for two years and for leading a very successful candy sale drive in District VI last year.

Awards were also given to Mrs. James Brien in recognition of her 15 years of service as a Camp Fire Leader, to Mrs. Martinez for seven years and five year awards went to Mrs. Albert Fluehr, Mrs. Ruth Van Winkle and Mrs. David Schwimmer. Mrs. Reinhertz also gave gifts of appreciation from the Board members to Mrs. James Brien who has been District chairman for two years and to Miss Gwen Marks who has been the staff worker working with District VI.

Mrs. Brien then handed out certificates of appreciation to several people who had contributed extra effort to the District.

Those awards and the areas they were in are: Mrs. Juanice Youngberg for secretarial work, Kay Reinhertz for having groups in her home to make pottery, Marcy Stuhr for getting Daly City's leaders association to work well, Gloria Wolgamott for training, Pat Valentine for organizing and keeping Half Moon Bay Groups going, Virginia Fluehr, Evelyn Shoepp, Pat Perruquet, Pat Brien and Page Fitzpatrick all for Group organization. Miss Doris Petty also received one for her directing of day camp.

A presentation was made to Gwen Marks by Mr. James Brien, in exchange for getting his wife back after her two years of hard work as chairman.

Certificates of appreciation for serving as Day Camp counselors were then given out by Doris Petty.

Mrs. Edward Youngberg, Nomination Committee chairman presented the slate of officers and members of the District Committee to be voted on.

All were approved unanimously.

The new officers will be Chairman: Mrs. Lowell Brubaker, Vice-Chairman Mrs. Eldrod Wolgamott and Secretary Mrs. Edward Youngberg. Members of the committee elected were Mrs. Richard Freund, Mrs. Joan Geiss, and Mrs. Vincent Rigoni three year terms, Mrs. Bob Perruquet, two year term and Mr. Harvey Barnett and Mrs. Joseph Acquistapace one year terms.

New, United Anti-380 Group Forms

A dozen organized groups from San Bruno and Pacifica have united to form a citizens' campaign against the Freeway 380 project.

Thirty-five residents met last Friday at a San Bruno school auditorium to formulate plans for the continuation of their fight against the State Division of Highway's plans to extend Route 380 through Crestmoor Canyon, across the northern end of the San Francisco watershed and wildlife refuge, over a cut in Sweeney Ridge, and down to the Pacifica coastside.

The group adopted the new name of "San Bruno-Pacifica Stop 380 Citizens Campaign," selected a steering committee made up of representatives of the anti-freeway groups, and laid out tentative plans for a full scale attack on the freeway extension project.

Mrs. Eli Larsen, local representatives of the Sierra Club, Joseph Bergeron, attorney representing the Sierra Club court suit, and Mrs. Terri Rasmussen, coordinator of the Freeway Fighting Fund, co-chaired the latest group meeting.

Orville Wycoff was asked to head a committee to draft a fact-sheet flyer for distribution and public relations functions of the group.

Present at the organizing meeting were representatives of the Sierra Club, 380-8 student group, Freeway Fighting Fund, Committee to Oppose 380, Crestmoor Park Improvement Association, Rollingwood Homeowners' Association, Pacific Heights Homeowners' Association, Keep Pacifica Scenic, Students to Preserve Our Canyon, Parents of Asthmatic Children, representatives of several P-TA units acting on their own, and Rob Nylund, our local meterologist.

A brief outline of campaign strategy was developed which will include the possibility of supporting anti-freeway candidates for the state Assembly and the City Councils in both San Bruno and Pacifica next year; letter-writing campaigns to legislators at both state and federal level; a speakers' bureau to present color slide programs before community organizations; the preparation and distribution of a fact sheet giving information on the detrimental effects the extension of Freeway 380 will have on both communities; a fund-raising drive to help finance the campaign; and continued pressure on local government representatives to take a stand against the freeway extension project.

Other individuals and organizations interested in joining the "Stop 380" group are invited to contact Mrs. Larsen in San Bruno (589-3840) or Clark Natwick in Pacifica (359-3600).

D.C. Dentist Will Face Prosecution

A felony complaint charging Dr. Gregory W. Genovese, 36-year-old Daly City dentist and relative of two nationally known Mafia leaders, with vehicular manslaughter will be issued Monday, District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson reported.

Genovese, who resides in Atherton, is being charged with the death of Karen Lee Peterman, 20, of Millbrae, who died September 26, in Mary's Help Hospital of injuries suffered four days earlier after her car was rammed from behind on Junipero Serra Freeway in South San Francisco by Genovese's car.

Sorenson said it is being alleged that Genovese was driving under the influence of phenobarbital, a bartiturate.

Genovese is the son of Vito Genovese and the son-in-law of Joe Bonnano, long identified as powerful leaders of Mafioso families.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

Author William Dale Jennings had George C. Scott in mind when he wrote "The Cowboys" ($5.95 Stein and Day Publishers), a story about a tough, rugged cattle man who recruits 12 scraggly schoolboys for a long drive when in 1877 the cow hands ran off to the gold fields.

But John Wayne grabbed it up on first reading and has just completed the film, the first in which he dies before the last reel.

It will be released early 1972 with Coleen Dewhurst as the Madame and Roscoe Lee Browne as the chuck wagon boss. Mark Rydell who had a way with directing children in "The Reivers" will direct.

"I just winched when I heard they'd given it to Wayne but it turned out he's the rightest guy in the world for the film.

"My attitude about him is ambivalent. No one in his right mind could mistake him for an actor or even a good looking man. But he is a legend, a national monument.

"Sure he's a super patriot and he's proud of being an American, not like some of these jerks running around wearing an American flag as a pair of shorts.

"He has prejudice, like all of us. But at least he's not prejudiced against the good old U.S.A."

Jennings has never lived on a ranch but he felt the need to debunk certain myths he feels have been perpetrated by western films.

"Like the one about all cooks being lousy. A cattle drive centers around the chuck wagon. They say an army travels on its stomach, well, so does a cattle drive. The one big event of the day is ham, eggs, syrup and pancakes.

"They really ate in those days. Men loved and respected the cook, he was a combination of confessor, father, doctor and cook.

"The myths get twisted little by little by everyone from Zane Grey to Gary Cooper. Often in Hollywood they have imitators imitating the imitators. Eventually it got around to Gabby Hayes who portrayed the cook as a comical character.

"Another boo-boo or call it a no-no, is to call a cowhand a cowpoke. One is mounted, the other is not. And a cowboy is just that, a boy, like in my story. Adults are called cow men."

The film cost six million dollars to make. Wayne gets $1,000,000 and renting cow herds cost $1,000 a day. The cowboys of the title were chosen from auditions in the form of a rodeo in the San Fernando Valley. Most of them are 4-H club members and none of the roping scenes are faked.

Charlie Brown Is Play at Westmoor

The stage lights dim, and the stage is in darkness.

From the blackness, a tiny waltz is heard. Suddenly, the lights come up on six people imitating a brass band.

There is a philosophical blanket bearer, a single-minded blonde, an artistic pianist, a talking dog, an overbearing brunette, and a wishy-washy failure. Linus, Patty, Schroeder, Lucy, and Charlie Brown, and Snoopy who come to life in Westmoor's High School version of the hit off-Broadway musical "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown," to be performed January 13, 14, 15, 20, 21, and 22.

Charles Gesner wrote the book, music, and lyrics of the musical, based on the famous cartoons of Chalres M. Schulz. It opened on Broadway in 1967, and proved so successful that duplicate productions opened all over the United States, including a company in San Francisco with Wendell Burton, who has since gone on to stardom in "The Sterile Cuckoo."

The show relates in songs, skits, and blackouts a day in the life of Charlie Brown.

Many familiar episodes in the lives of the characters are presented, including Snoopy's battle with the Red Baron, Lucy's infatuation with Schoeder, and Charlie Brown's infomous All-Stars.

The part of Charlie Brown will be played by Jim Wells, who has been in many Westmoor plays, including "Under Milkwood," and as Prince Dauntless in "Once Upon A Mattress."

The role of Linus will be assumed by senior Carl Kostolefsky, whose latest efforts have included "Under Milkwood" and the title role of "The Miser."

Lucy will be played by Sandra Hansen, who has appeared most recently in "Under Millkwood" and "Pullman Car Hiawatha." Michael Nicholson, another verteran of "Under Milkwood" and "Pullman Car Hiawatha" among others, will play Snoopy.

Senior Sue Jeppson will play Patty, she has acted in such Westmoor efforts as "A Midsummer Night's Dram" and "J.B." Schroeder will be played by junior Paul Hodgekiss, in his first appearance on Westmoor's stage

Missing Pilot Found Dead

The mystery of the disappearance of a Northern California millionaire, after taking off from San Carlos Airport April 28, has ended.

A body found Thursday in the wreckage of a plane in mountainous Mendocino County near Willits has been identified through dental charts as that of William G. Crawford, 33.

A Mendocino County Sheriff's office helicopter crew, searching for another plane crash, found the wreckage of Crawford's plane.

Crawford took off from the airport here late that night, a few hours after landing on a business mission. At 1 a.m. he radioed for weather conditions at Hamilton Field and Ukiah.

He had told business associates he was going to Reno, but he never arrived there.

Civil Air Patrol pilots searched every mile of the air route between here and Reno, and every mile from the Bay Area to Ukiah. Aided by Mendocino County Sheriff's searchers, they probed miles of wooded hillside along both sides of the expected route, but never turned up a trace.

A $10,000 reward was offered, but he was never seen until searchers circled the Willits airport area looking for a plane carrying William Pulliam, 39, his wife, Jeanne, 39, his sons, William Jr., 17, and Dennis, 11.

Pulliam had taken off from the Willits airport, 20 miles north of Ukaih, Tuesday night. He had prepared a flight plan for Bakersfield, where he expected to spend Thanksgiving.

Willets' airport manager said he heard the plane take off, circle the field, and head northwest instead of southeast.

A mechanic said he heard the engine shut down, then pop and sputter.

Civil Air Patrol pilot Lt. Richard Pingrey, and observer William Prosser, spotted the wreckage of Pulliam's plane, three miles northwest of Willits. The entire family was killed.

Sheriff's officer searchers found Crawford's plane in the same direction, some 10 miles northwest of Willits.

CAP members said the wreckage was scattered over 300 yards, along the ridge of a wooded hill.

No one will ever know what route Crawford followed on his final flight, but he had missed Ukiah by 30 miles.

Crawford had inherited a vast lumber and ranching fortune from his parents, who were killed in a plance crash in Canada.

Two Elderly Women Are Robbed

Three juveniles, about 14 years old, knocked a 71-year-old woman from her bicycle at State and North San Mateo Drive on a recent afternoon and attempted to take her purse. She managed to hold onto it.

A few minutes later, three juveniles, apparently the same, snatched the purse from a 69-year-old woman at 340 East Santa Inez and ran down the street at Santa Inez and Ramona.

San Mateo Police report that the eldest victim was riding her bike east on State Street when she was stopped by three youths, who asked for a match.

When she told them they might get one at a nearby liquor store, one knocked her from her bike to the ground and attempted to take her purse. Unable to wrest it from her, the three ran away.

The other woman said that she was on her way home from a market on Santa Inez when, as she approached Ramona, she saw two youths. One of them called out to a third, saying, "Come on Diana," she said.

A third came out from behind a bush, and as they passed her, one of them took hold of her purse and slipped it "neatly" off her arm, she said. They then ran to a car.

Woodside May Name Manager

A decision on whether to reestablish the position of town administrator was postponed by the Town Council last week until January 10.

The delay was voted at the close of a public meeting attended by only about two dozen residents. The council had called the meeting to inform the citizenry about various possibilities for staff reorganization as outlined in the report of a consulting firm.

The presentation was made by the Employes Service Committee, headed by Vice Mayor William Arthur Patrick.

The position of town administrator has been vacant since June 30, 1968, when Dick Wilkinson was ousted in an economy move. The ranking administrative official since that time has been town clerk Irma Lewis.

Newcomers Club Lists Yule Fete

The San Bruno Newcomers Club will sponsor its annual Christmas party for members' children on Monday at 7 p.m. at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 1600 Santa Lucia Avenue, San Bruno.

A visit from Santa Claus will highlight the evening which is open to prospective members who may contact Mrs. B. R. Parker for additional information.

Sign Law Changes Postponed in Carlos

Action to adopt an amendment for streamlining the San Carlos city sign ordinance was again postponed by the city council last week after more proposals for changes were proposed during a lengthy discussion of the matter.

The council rescheduled the matter for its December 27 meeting.

Major concern expressed by speakers was that there was no amortization period specified for removal of non-conforming signs.

Clark Williams, speaking on behalf of the California Electric Sign Association, protested the absence of a procedure for the orderly removal of non-conforming signs.

Larry Nichols, speaking for the Redwood City-San Carlos-Belmont Board of Realtors, objected to the restriction of "A" signs for advertising of homes for sale and requested that "for sale" signs be limited to one per property for sale.

Howard Jones, a Shell Oil Company spokesman, appeared to request that the company's trademark signs be allowed to continue to exist in the city.

It was susggested during the session that amortization period for removal or modification of non-conforming signs be specified in the ordinance at three to five years.

The council approved without comment the County Board of Supervisors request for agreement of an increase in dog license fees and impounding fees.

A study was authorized for a cooperative effort among the city, the state and Southern Pacific for the synchronization of pedestrian crossing signals at Old County Road and Holly Street with the railroad crossing signals and the traffic signals at Holly and El Camino Real.

Survey Shows Attitude To Gambling Changing

Zooming taxes appear to be changing the attitude on legalized gambling.

Special state surveys conducted among independent business people in the nation's two biggest states, in size, welfare loads, in tax burdens, and in deficits, by the National Federation of Independent Business of San Mateo, finds a majority now favoring state legalized gambling to reduce the tax bite.

Although New York already has a state operated lottery and horse betting establishments, the disclosure of an $8 billion state deficit has created an apparent desire for the state to turn even more to gambling rather than taxes.

Currently, 54 per cent say they favor "opening the state of legalized gambling such as Nevada now has to obtain additional revenue."

In California, 64.8 per cent say "yes" to the question, "Would you be in favor of State supervised lotteries to provide additional funds for the operation of state government to decrease taxes?"

In California, only betting at track pari-mutual windows is legal. "Bookies" are illegal.

For a long time, the independent business people of California located in the area of the race tracks raised protests against horse racing on the grounds that people spent their money at the tracks and failed to pay their bills.

Undoubtedly a great deal of this change of attitude is due to the fact that huge sums go from California to Nevada casinos only a bare four hours away by auto, and minutes by air. Whenever a bill is introduced into the California legislature to open some form of gambling in California, there is great concern in Nevada.

However, as all types of taxes are on the increase in California, the residents of that state are becoming more conscious that Nevada is operating without levying either a personal or corporate income tax, with a sales tax that cannot exceed 3½ per cent, no inheritance taxes, and a property tax that is limited by law to $5 per $100 dollars of assessed valuation. By contrast, in San Francisco, for example, the sales tax is 5 per cent, and the property tax almost $13, and there is a drive to enact a city income tax on top of the existing state income tax.

Despite the fact that Nevada has practically no tax income, with most revenues coming from legalized gambling, it ranks 18th among the states in tax revenues per thousand dollars of income. New York and California rank at the top of the list.

Burglars Hit Apartment

Two San Mateo young women this week reported their apartment at 1518 Largo burglarized.

The victims, Joyce D. Reisfelt and Sharon L. Wirth, police report, found the front door partly open when they arrived home at 4 a.m. and called police.

Tree Is Memorial To Teacher's Son

There is a 14-foot coastal redwood tree standing at Aragon High School today as a living memorial to Barry A. Bowman, a young army officer killed in action in Vietnam recently.

Last month, Bowman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Bowman of Belmont, were notified of the death. Mr. Bowman is a chemistry teacher at Aragon and the student body and faculty moved to express their sympathy.

The concensus was to purchase a tree to be planted on the campus as a living memorial.

The tree was purchased from student and faculty donations and planted in a noon time ceremony conducted by student Rebecca Wolf.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman and their daughter Terry were present for the occasion. After introductions, Mr. Bowman made a brief statement of gratitude and stated that he would like the tree to be a memorial for all those who have died in Vietnam.

Burglary Charges

Burlingame police captured two young men inside the Mills Estate Pharmacy at 1818 El Camino Real, after a burglar alarm had been triggered, early today.

Booked on charges of burglary were:

Lavell Ferguson, 20, 127 North Grant Street, San Mateo; and Ronnie T. Boykin, 22, 119 South Grant Street.

The two were captured by Burlingame Officers Robert Boyle, Eric Haseleu, John Parkin, and Bruce Friedberg, aided by Officer Richard Krona of Millbrae and Sgt. Ernest Hail of Hillsborough, with a police dog.

Officers rushed to the drug store when an alarm was sounded by removal of $10 from a specially rigged cash register. The window through which entry had been made, was not in the alarm system, police said.

Separated from other buildings in the Mills Estate Plaza, the pharmacy has been burglarized or robbed several times, and last year was the scene of a holdup attempt that ended in the murder of its owner, Aram Ojakian.

Officer Parkin said that when he arrived at the drug store shortly after 4 a.m., he could see one suspect moving about inside.

The burglar raced toward the front door, Parkin said, stopped when he saw the helmeted officer armed with a shorgun, and ran toward the back of the store.

Officer Robert Boyle found a side window which had been broken out, and clambered through with his .357 magnum pistol in his hand.

He found the two had gone into a storeroom, and then climbed into the crawl space above the ceiling.

At first the two men refused to come out. Later they said:

"We were afraid we'd get killed, you know how things are today."

Sgt. Hall then roved through the store with his police dog, because the Burlingame officers thought there might be a third suspect.

Aragon Chorus Will Entertain Woman's Club

The Madrigal chorus is directed by Ben Denton accompanied by Mrs. Greg Mott. The program will concentrate on contemporary music including Christmas selections.

Members have been asked to bring canned goods for the Half Way House, cookies for the USO and wrapped gifts for women at the Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center.

Hazardous Toys Unremoved

Many parents will go shopping for Christmas toys with the belief that all hazardous toys have been removed from market shelves.

Nothing could be further from the truth. A banned toy can still find its way into a child's hands. Toys purchased before July 1970 might be old toys and on the banned list. Some stores say they have not received the list of banned toys.

Although the Child Protection and Safety Act was enacted by Congress in late 1969, there was no section within the FDA to enforce it until the formation of the Bureau of Product Safety.

With a very meager budget to police the $3 billion toy industry, the FDA has finally been able to launch a program to provide the media with the information needed to effectively communicate advice on toys.

Since December 1970, the FDA has officially banned 140 toys because of safety hazards. As of August 23, 1971, a total of 63 firms have had one or more toys found to be a "banned toy". Since April 12, 1971, a total of 61 toys were found to need voluntary corrections of a hazard. A number of these toys have been redesigned and are back on the Christmas toy shelf. A banned drawing devise, whose glass top could shatter and spread aluminum dust, has appeared with a plastic cover. Various dart games, banned last year because of inadequte labeling, are now sold in adult sporting goods sections with labels that the product must be used by adults.

Some adults shop for the toys which please them and do not stop to think of possible hazards for the child. Parent and manufacturer have a joint responsibility in toy safety.

A spokesman for the American Standards Association on the development of safety standards warns "you cannot write laws designating the proper time for a parent to give a child a toy he might decide to wield like a club.

Each parent must decide if a particular toy is suitable for the child. Toys that are dangerous for a four year old child may be perfectly safe for an eight year old.

Family Day for Singles Sunday at Peninsula 'Y'

Many people have ideas — ideas concerning what they would like to see available for people like themselves in their community. But few people take the initiative to turn an idea into a reality.

One of these few is Pat Murray, a resident of San Mateo.

A little over a year ago, Pat went to the Peninsula YMCA with an idea of starting a program at that agency for single adults. "There are many single people in our community who are lonely and need a place like the Y to meet others, relax and have fun," she explained.

The staff and Board of Directors agreed. Pat and a handful of people began the C'est La Vie Singles Club. Last year over 5,000 people attended club activities.

Pat has another idea. "Families with both parents or just one need a place to go that is inexpensive. They need a place where they can have fun together, meet others and also pursue their own interests. Traditionally, Sunday has been a family day in America. Why not have a Sunday activities day for families at the Y?"

Again, the Board of Directors liked the idea and again, an idea has become a reality. Family Activities Day will begin Sunday, December 5.

The program is designed for single or married parents who have children six years of age or older.

"Activities are varied and flexible. The sky's almost the limit! Adults who would like to sponsor a child whose parents can't come, please contact me at the Y," said Pat.

The schedule is:

12:00-2:00 — Gym use for men and boys.

2:30-3:00 — All the families gather together for a sing-a-long, talent show, skits and charades. Birthdays for that week will be announced.

3:00-5:00 — There will be activities from which to choose — volleyball, ping pong, basketball, dancing, crafts, self defense, games, children's activities, bridge, conversation and reading in the social room or participants may bring their own activities with them.

5:30-7:00 — Each person brings food for six servings for a Pot Luck Dinner.

There will be an admission charge of $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children for the afternoon. The Peninsula YMCA is located at 240 North El Camino Real in San Mateo.
